Dukhu govt on brink as rebels gift BJP RS seat

Six Congress MLAs vote for BJP in HP; cross-voting by 7 SP MLAs gives the saffron party eighth seat in Uttar Pradesh

HARPREET BAJWA AND NAMITA BAJPAI @Chandigarh/ Lucknow

'SUKHU' was not a word the Congress would have wanted to associate itself with on Tuesday amid cross-voting in three states the Rajya Sabha elections; the more appropriate term was 'Dukhu'. If the Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu government failed to keep its flock together for the lone Rajya Sabha seat from Himachal Pradesh, giving the BJP an stunning victory, the Samajwadi Party suffered a blow in Uttar Pradesh as the saffron party snatched a seat from under its nose, winning eight in all. The situation reversed in Karnataka as one BJP MLA cross-voted and another abstained from voting.

Himachal Pradesh saw the BJP's Harsh Mahajan registering an upset victory over Congress candidate Abhishek Manu Singhvi. The Sukhu government in Himachal is now on the edge as the state budget has to be passed on February 29 (Thursday). If the government fails to do so, it will lose legitimacy.

Though the BJP has only 25 seats in the 68-member Himachal assembly, Mahajan polled 34 votes to tie with Singhvi's score. The victor was then decided by a draw of lots. As many as six Congress lawmakers and three Independents voted in favour of Mahajan.

In UP, the contest was for the eighth seat as the BJP and the SP had easily pocketed seven and two, respectively. Seven of the SP lawmakers cross-voted for the BJP's eighth candidate Sanjay Seth, who is an SP import. The seven SP rebels are Abhay Singh, Rakesh Pratap Singh, Rakesh Pandey, Manoj Pandey (SP chief whip), Ashutosh Maurya, Vinod Chaturvedi and Puja Pal. Besides, one SP MLA, Maharaji Devi, abstained.

Draw of lots part rules

Harsh Mahajan (BJP) defeated Abhishek Manu Singhvi (Congress) by a draw of lots, which was a tie-breaker. In the RS, the candidate whose slip is drawn loses the poll, while in the LS, the one whose slip is drawn, wins

Rebels Will be expelled

"We knew they would rebel when they skipped the dinner. There was a buzz about different packages. The rebels will be expelled," Akhilesh said

BJP TO TAKE LEGAL ACTION AGAINST MLA

Maken wins as Cong claims 3 RS seats, BJP 1 in K'taka

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

RULING Congress bagged three seats and BJP secured one in the biennial elections held for four seats of the Rajya Sabha from Karnataka on Tuesday.

Former Union minister and AICC treasurer Ajay Maken, Syed Naseer Hussain and GC Chandrashekar of Congress, Narayansa K Bhandage of BJP were declared elected for a tenure of six years from April 3, 2024. The polling and counting of votes was held at Vidhana soudha.

The BJP-JDS alliance faced a setback as their candidate, fifth in the fray -- former RS member D Kupendra Reddy of JDS, polled 36 votes against the 45 required and lost. Of the 224 elected MLAs, 222 exercised their franchise and all the votes were valid. While Yellapur BJP MLA Shivaram Hebbar abstained, Surapura Congress MLA Raja Venkatappa Naik died on Sunday.

The results were on the expected lines, except for a drama involving two rebel BJP MLAs who defied the party whip to favour Congress, which however made no difference. Yeshwanthpur MLA ST Somashekar cross voted for Maken of Congress, while Hebbar did not turn up. Both are likely to join Congress. P6

Row erupts over 'pro-Pak' slogans at Soudha

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CONGRESS' celebrations after its impressive win in the Rajya Sabha polls were marred by a controversy over followers of newly elected RS member Syed Naseer Hussain allegedly raising slogans that were heard as "Pakistan Zindabad" in the corridors of Vidhana Soudha on Tuesday evening. But it remains unclear whether the slogans, shouted amid a lot of din, were "Naseer-saab Zindabad" or "Pakistan Zindabad". BJP filed a complaint with the Vidhana Soudha police against Hussain and his supporters, and an FIR was registered against "unknown persons".

Soon after his victory, Hussain was seen with his followers who were raising slogans in Vidhana Soudha corridors. P6

SC issues contempt notice to Patanjali, Balkrishna

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday issued a contempt notice to Patanjali Ayurved and its managing director Acharya Balkrishna for publishing advertisements on cures of their medicines, despite their undertaking to follow the court's earlier order. The Supreme Court had in its earlier order restrained the company from issuing advertisements relating to blood pressure, diabetes and asthma.

"The entire country is taken for a ride (by Patanjali)," the Supreme Court observed. The court passed the order after hearing a petition filed by the Indian Medical Association regarding misinformation against allopathy.

The apex court restrained Patanjali from advertising its medicinal products till further hearing, which is set for three weeks from now.

City couple swindles over 15 banks

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

A couple from the city has defrauded nationalised banks, regional cooperative banks and private financial institutions by mortgaging the same property to all of them to obtain crores of rupees as loan. They have also fabricated documents of a property that does not even exist in the city.

When bank authorities went to attach the property at Begur in Bengaluru South taluk, they found that the plot had already been pledged to many other financial institutions. Only when the authorities verified the documents at the Begur sub-registrar's office, BBMP and BDA, did they find out that the documents of lands/sites shown on different numbers at Begur were fabricated.

Over 15 banks and financial institutions were in queue to recover the loan and interest from the couple, KS Nagesh and Suma BS, who had obtained loans for procuring machinery for their companies, Shrinidhi Manufacturers and Shrinidhi Masala.

To quote just a few instances, they owed Rs 1.30 crore to Tumakuru Merchants Credit Cooperative as of 2018, Rs 2.09 crore to Tumakuru Grain Merchants Cooperative Bank as of December 2022, Rs 1.88 crore to Koteshwar Cooperative Bank as of 2022 and Rs 1 crore to Tumakuru Veerashaiva Cooperative Bank. They had taken Rs 95 lakh from Syndicate Bank in 2018.

Model code for LS polls in 10-12 days, hints Joshi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ KGF

UNION Parliamentary Affairs Minister Pralhad Joshi on Tuesday hinted that the model code of conduct for the Lok Sabha polls could come into force by the second week of March.

At an event to distribute possession certificates to former employees of Bharat Gold Mines Ltd at Kolar Gold Fields, he told local legislator Roopa Kala Sashidhar to come to New Delhi within the next 10-12 days to discuss issues related to BGML ex-employees, which was construed by political experts as an indication of the coming model code of conduct.

Akshata's outings spark security concerns

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

AKSHATA Murty, wife of UK Prime Minister Rishi Sunak, was recently spotted browsing books at a book fair with her children and parents, Infosys founder NR Narayana Murthy and writer-philanthropist Sudha Murty, near Raghavendra Mutt in JP Nagar, Bengaluru, in a viral video that garnered praise for her simplicity.

But concerns were also raised over her security, given her status as Britain's First Lady. The city police said security arrangements can be made only based on the directives of the government.

A video grab of Akshata Murty at a book fair in Bengaluru recently

The video showing the family browsing books was posted on Monday, but it is not known when the outing happened. It received over 7,000 views, but also prompted concerns about security as Akshata is now a VVIP.

An X user questioned, "Who will provide security -- India or the UK. Since it is her personal visit, India cannot offer security, and the UK typically does not prioritise security for such visits." Another user posted, "The security breach is highly irresponsible, and if anything were to happen to her here, the Indian Embassy would be held accountable."

Earlier this month, Akshata was spotted enjoying ice cream with her father Narayana Murthy at an ice cream parlour in Jayanagar. P4

BBMP EYES REVENUE INFLOW

ZONES OUT, TAX LINKED TO GUIDANCE VALUE

Location, amenities, infra will be key; govt claims new regime must for finance panel funds

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) will do away with the current practice of determining tax based on 'zonal classification' (A-E) under its limits, and will levy property tax based on the new 'Guidance Value-based' tax system, from April 1, 2024. Under the new system, property tax will be calculated based on the property location, type of usage, amenities and infrastructure development.

This move is expected to drastically increase annual property tax paid by property owners. However, BBMP is arguing that it will not get any funds under the 15th Finance Commission until property tax is linked to guidance value. State municipalities, other than BBMP, are already collecting property tax based on guidance value.

According to officials, the existing tax system is not rational. Citing an example, the official said, "In one zone (one of five classifications from A to E), a property owner pays more tax on his house built on the same area, compared to an owner in a different zone. Hence the new system is proposed to bring uniformity in property taxation."

BBMP revenue officials also said that under the proposed system, more revenue will be generated as there will be no scope for undervaluation of properties. He also recalled that the Palike was losing out on a huge chunk of revenue due to undervaluation of properties by land mafia, while purchasing them.

Talking about the proposed tax system, Srikanth Narasimhan, president, Bengaluru Navanirmana Party (BNP), said that under the old system, he was paying Rs 3,864 for his 1,660 sqft built-up area under 'E' zone, and under the new guidance value system, he will have to pay Rs 5,171. "The actual picture will emerge only after BBMP publishes the final notification after settlement of claims and objections on March 6," said Narasimhan.

BBMP also fixed Rs 20,000 plus cess per annum on telecommunication towers, hoardings, billboards or electronic devices installed on buildings. Under the new system, tax will be increased at 5 per cent annually, from the next financial year. The new directive will rake in revenue, which can be used for development projects.

For more details or to send in objections, visit the BBMP revenue office or reach out to the BBMP revenue commissioner at spcomm.rev@bbmp.gov.in.

Tax increase

Self-occupied properties: 0.1%
Rented properties - 0.2%
Vacant land - 0.025%
Non-residential/commercial properties - 0.5%

KEY POINTS

- BBMP has considered construction value on buildings, and fixed ₹1,500 per sqft on residential and ₹2,000 on commercial property
- ₹20,000 plus cess per annum on telecom towers, hoardings, billboards or electronic devices installed on buildings
- Property tax will be increased by 5% annually

How will guidance value be calculated

A location that has better road, rail and Metro connectivity, with amenities like parks, shopping complexes by housing boards, etc will have higher guidance value, compared to areas that lack these facilities. Based on these factors, guidance value will be set by the sub-registrar of the jurisdiction.

Trees outside the tech park compound in Whitefield have been cut without permission | EXPRESS

> There's no way the tech park owner could have got permission to cut trees on a footpath. Legally, only the forest department can cut trees on the footpath
>
> Sandeep Anirudhan, Activist

FOLLOWING a complaint by residents, BBMP forest cell officials inspected the GR Tech Park, Whitefield and Salarpuria pvt ltd compound for cut trees, and registered an FIR against them.

Range Forest Officer, BBMP Mahadevapura Zone, Sudarshan said, "The BBMP forest department cell had not given any permission to cut the trees. Hence, an FIR has been registered against the Tech Park." He also said the tech park had given a portion of their land to the Metro project and had built a compound wall. Hence, the trees were now, outside their compound. "Since they wanted to install huge gates for safety purposes, the tech park sought permission to cut six trees. However, 19 additional trees were also cut down," said Sudarshan.

The activists also alleged that the tech park had allegedly encroached the footpath area, and erected tin sheets. However, the forest cell official said that they are only concerned with the cutting of trees.

Activist Sandeep Anirudhan said that the tin sheets were put up a month in advance to mask cutting the trees. The BBMP did not take any action regarding the encroachment on the footpath. "There's no way the tech park owner could have got permission to cut trees on a footpath. Legally, only the forest department can cut trees on the footpath. We spoke to the forest department officials, they say they have not cut any of the trees. We have come to accept that there is general lawlessness, but harming trees like this when we are facing environmental crisis shows how insensitive we humans have become," he added.

In another case, residents of Doddakallsadra expressed concern over BWSSB pipe line work under its 110 village development component in BBMP limits, as the line passes the Doddakallsandra lake. The residents say, there are seven trees that have come in the way of the project. These trees enrich biodiversity and may be cut down for the project.

KSRTC seeks tenants for Basaveshwara bus terminal

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

THE Basaveshwara bus terminal, at Peenya, off Tumkur Road has proven to be one of biggest white elephants for the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC). The terminal was earlier planned to be converted into an electric bus depot, however, now, the corporation is on the look out for commercial tenants for the bus terminal. Sources from the bus corporation revealed that they have not been able to effectively make use of the terminal, since it failed to fulfil the purpose it was built for.

The bus terminal was built on 6 acres of land at a cost of over Rs 40 crore in the year 2014 with the sole intention to ease out the traffic at Kempegowda Bus Terminal. However, the attempt to operate all buses heading towards North Karnataka from this terminal failed, as there was no patronage from the public.

Sources revealed that KSRTC managing director V Anbukumar was keen to explore the options to put the idle bus terminal into use. He got to know that the terminal failed to serve any purpose and it was a white elephant, while taking stock of the corporation, when he took over as the managing director.

"There were discussions to convert the idle bus terminal into an electric bus depot, as KSRTC will be adding more e-buses to its fleet. However, nothing concrete has evolved of this discussion yet. KSRTC spends more than Rs 7 lakh monthly, to maintain the terminal which includes salary of security staff among other maintenance related expenses. This is why we are looking for commercial tenants," the source said.

HC to K'taka: Appoint RERA Tribunal chairperson in 3 weeks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court granted three weeks to the state government to make RERA Appellate Tribunal functional by appointing its chairperson.

A large number of petitions are filed before the high court by promoters against the orders passed by the Real Estate Regulatory Authority (RERA), instead of filing them before the Appellate Tribunal, which is non-functional, as its chairperson has not been appointed by the state government since June 2, 2023.

"It's non-functioning because the state government has not appointed the chairperson... The state by its act prima facie, is contributing to the pendency of cases before this court", said Justice M Nagaprasanna, accepting the request made by Advocate General Shashikiran Shetty to give three weeks to appoint the chairperson.

The court also directed the state to initiate the process to appoint a member to RERA as one of its members is going to retire in April 2024.

The interim order was passed after hearing a petition filed by Mathew Thomas from the city, praying for directions to the state government to consider his representation seeking the appointment of the chairperson.

The court noted that as per Section 22 of the RERA, the state has to fill in the vacancies and the proceedings continue from that stage itself.

Students celebrate their graduation ceremony during the 26th Annual Convocation of Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Science in Bengaluru on Tuesday | ALLEN EGENUSE J

AT least 50 per cent of the population will get national health insurance in the coming years and all the hospitals should use this opportunity to improve their services, said the Chairman of National Medical Commission (NMC), Dr BN Gangadhar, while speaking at the 26th Convocation of Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS), on Tuesday.

He added that Karnataka has reached the doctor to patient ratio of 2 : 1,000 which surpasses the WHO's recommendation of one doctor per thousand population. "However this is not enough, as developed countries have a ratio of 3 : 1000 and our patients should not fall back on receiving optimum treatment. We need more human resource," he said.

He further said that in the last 10 years NMC has aided in doubling the number of MBBS and PG courses. Speaking about integrative medicine, he said it will be the future of healthcare and the medical infrastructure is shifting towards it.

"Each college and each faculty member needs to introspect on improving research and patents in the medical field. 1.75 lakh people have entered the field this year and we have about 1.85 lakh faculty in the country. We ought to produce better research quality," he added.

During the convocation Dr GK Venkatesh G, Dr Prakash Biradar, and Dr Pinki Bhatia Topiwala, were bestowed with honorary doctorates by Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot. Gehlot emphasised the significance of medical service and the Karnataka government's efforts in aligning healthcare provisions with global standards.

Sharan Prakash Patil, Medical Education Minister said, "The government will continue to extend all necessary support to RGUHS in ensuring enhanced quality of Health Science Education..."

At the convocation ceremony, 88 candidates secure 100 Gold Medals. The ceremony saw 44,525 undergraduates, 7,815 postgraduates, 17 PHDs, 156 super specialty candidates, 122 fellowship candidates, 8 completed their certificate course, and 7 completed their post graduation diploma.

Another asked, "Security must be provided, I hope there are security personnel out of the frame."

A senior police official told TNIE that security can only be provided based on government instructions. "It appears that she is on a personal visit and not in an official capacity. The security would have been different if she was on an official visit. However, the security protocol depends on the directives of the government and inputs by central agencies."

PETER VIDAL

28TH February : Just a word about Mercury, my planet of the day. This delightful planet has apparently changed its position and now indicates that agreement will be reached where, over the past few weeks, it seemed hopeless. Many of us will have not just a second, but a third chance.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
If others seem to want a greater degree of license and freedom, you deserve it as well. The only complication concerns your relationships with children, and you are still unsure where to draw the line. The best approach is to be firm but sympathetic and compassionate, but you probably know that, anyway!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You don't usually let the world see just how astute you can be. Yet recently you've come out with some very strange ideas which all of us can learn from. You are now ready to start dictating the pace at home. Begin by clearing up all muddles, misunderstandings and mess left over from the past.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Professional influences remain strong and helpful, so you may, if you wish, allow work to take care of itself. It looks as if much of what happens over the coming two months will be based around endless meetings, interviews or conferences. Get your story ready.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You have endured partnership conflicts, restlessness and estrangements, but this is all part of the crazy dialogue with your sign, set up by the celestial awkward squad - Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. If you wish, you may now put emotional complications to one side.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Pull out all the stops and spend whatever is necessary to pay for your dreams. It doesn't matter whether you have one pound or dollar or a million, or whether you have any cash at all - in any currency! What's important is that you allow yourself a morale-boosting treat.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Planetary activity over the next few days allows you to wallow in a bout of sentiment and romance. Also, you'd do well to devote a great deal of attention to establishing just what makes other people tick. Once you've found out, then you'll be able to give them what they want.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You're facing the old dilemma- whether to compromise, or not! If you decide to insist that you get your own way socially, you must show other people that you have just cause. If you don't know what you're talking about, you'll soon be found out. This is no time to bluff!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There is an increasing tendency towards silly accidents, a fact I point out solely so that you can take more care when handling priceless people or possessions. It's all down to carelessness, so the remedy is simple: watch out! And keep an eye open for an employer who is now on the warpath.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Business and pleasure can merge in mysterious ways. Complete all purchases of luxury items or investments in the arts or any other frivolous area. By the same token, agreements and arrangements affecting your working conditions must be finalised.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's a fair enough day for making applications, attending interviews and handling discussions, and you can do well if you're selling ideas. On the romantic front, certain emotional complications should by now have died down or have come to seem strangely irrelevant.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There are so many awkward alignments in your horoscope that some of you may be feeling a little bewildered and hard done-by. Perhaps it's time to remind you that according to every tenet of your birth sign, you thrive on a challenge! In fact, there's nothing worse than having nothing to do!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The world should generally be moving in your direction, today. This doesn't mean that you'll be able to get your own way; neither should it, for the universe has other ideas. It does show however, that you will be well fitted to cope with whatever life throws at you.

BTech student kills aunt, burns body

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ELECTRONICS City police arrested a 20-year-old BTech student who killed his 37-year-old aunt and burnt her body. The woman was reported missing on February 12, and a week later, police discovered her charred skull and bones near S Bingipura village, on the outskirts of Bengaluru.

Police said the incident was brought to their attention when Sukanya's husband filed a missing person complaint. Subsequently, with CCTV footage and technological aid, police traced her whereabouts to Bannerghatta, where she had been with the accused, Jaswanth.

Jaswanth, who is Sukanya's relative, grew up in the same household as Sukanya, in Doddakammanahalli near Electronics City. It led her to trust him without hesitation when he offered to drive her out in his car on February 12. Jaswanth had previously asked Sukanya for money, stating that he was in urgent need, but she had declined, saying she could not give money as she was not aware of his needs, police said.

Following this, Jaswanth orchestrated her murder to rob and pawn her gold to settle his needs. He drove Sukanya to a remote area near Bannerghatta in his car and strangled her before setting her body on fire, using petrol that he had got from Hosur, police added.

During investigation, Jaswanth admitted to his role in the crime. Electronics City police have registered a case.

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA police is gearing up to implement the three new criminal laws (NCLs), which will be effective from July 1. Director General & Inspector General of Police (DG&IGP) Alok Mohan has constituted a committee headed by the DGP, Criminal Investigation Department (CID) Mohd Saleem to bring in awareness on the three NCLs in the state police.

The committee comprises five Additional Directors General of Police (ADGPs) -- Administration, Law & Order (L&O), Crime & Criminal Tracking Network & Systems (CCTNS), Training and Police Computer Wing (PCW).

The Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), Bharatiya Nagrik Suraksha Sanhita (BNSS) and Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam (BSA) will replace the Indian Penal Code (IPC), 1860; Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPC), 1973; and Indian Evidence Act (IEA), 1872, after President Droupadi Murmu gave her assent on December 25, 2023. They will come into force from July 1. The NCLs have shed colonial references from older laws, are welfare-oriented and citizen-centric, with focus on security. There is a provision for reformative punishment and community service for first-time offenders.

Mohan told TNIE that on February 23, an expert from the Bureau of Police Research & Development (BPRD) had conducted a session for Superintendents of Police, Deputy Inspectors General and Inspectors General at the police headquarters in hybrid mode on NCLs.

"We are already running courses on the three new laws in the Karnataka Police Academy (KPA), Mysuru, for officers of other ranks, along with refresher courses," said Mohan.

ADGP, Training, Alok Kumar said the KPA is also preparing training modules in Kannada. "The BPRD is assisting in training the trainers. They have trained 70 trainers. We recently concluded a five-day course on February 16 to train police sub-inspectors, inspectors and deputy SPs. All 12 police training schools in Karnataka are holding training programmes on NCLs. We hope to cover all police officials in the state by March-end," said Kumar.

Police software CCTNS and IT will also be changed in accordance with the NCLs by July 1.

Besides the three NCLs, the Central government has also initiated three new initiatives: e-courts, Inter-operable Criminal Justice System (ICJS) and new technology to remove delays in the criminal justice system. The main objective of ICJS is to integrate all pillars of criminal justice: the police (CCTNS), courts (e-courts), prisons (e-prisons), forensic laboratories (e-forensic) and prosecution (e-prosecution).

POLITICAL SUICIDE BY SOMASHEKAR: BJP

Party to take legal action against MLA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

RS CROSS VOTING

WITH BJP MLA ST Somashekar cross voting for the Congress in Tuesday's Rajya Sabha polls, the Opposition party is now exploring legal action against him for violating the party whip.

Leader of Opposition R Ashoka said they had anticipated that Somashekar will cross-vote in the polls. "Whatever he has done, it is political suicide. We had issued a whip; messages were sent to MLAs' phones and even to their personal assistants about the whip. We were in touch with them till Tuesday morning. He (Somashekar) has not only deceived our party, but the people who voted him," he said.

BJP's legal cell head Vivek Reddy said Somashekar's move comes under the purview of the anti-defection law and he can lose his Assembly membership. The party has decided to approach the Assembly Speaker and seek action against the MLA. "If the Speaker delays, we can go to the High Court and even the Supreme Court," Reddy said.

Expressing displeasure against Somashekar, Ashoka added that the MLA could have resigned from the party and Assembly membership, like former CM Jagadish Shettar who resigned as MLC and later returned to the BJP. "The party has given everything to Somashekar. He was made minister and was Mysuru district in-charge minister. When I spoke to him on Monday, he had said he will not deceive the party. We will take legal action against him," he said.

BJP senior leader and MLC N Ravi kumar said Somashekar enjoyed power only after joining the BJP. "It was he who had come to the BJP. We will bring it to the notice of the party high command," he said.

Meanwhile, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said, "Alliance (BJP-JDS) MLAs who were seeking conscience vote have become conscience vote givers." He also said he is not aware of Somashekar's cross voting.

When asked if there is legal support to those who have cast conscience votes for Congress candidates, Shivakumar said he will speak about this when it happens. "Somashekar cast his vote as per his conscience. It's a vote against the unholy BJP-JDS alliance. The general public, graduates and teachers rejected the alliance in the recent bypolls of the teachers' constituency, where the Congress member won," he said.

Action after talks with BJP state chief: Joshi

Kolar: Action will be taken against the legislator who cross voted in the Rajya Sabha election on Tuesday, said Union Minister Pralhad Joshi. He told reporters at KGF that after discussions with BJP state president BY Vijayendra, action will be taken against MLA Somashekar for cross voting as well as MLA Shivaram Hebbar, who abstained from voting. Joshi said the action of both the MLAs shows that they will not stay for long in one party, and the BJP will take action immediately. To a question that both may join the Congress, he said, "Let's see what happens." On MLA G Janardhana Reddy, Joshi said the mining baron is an independent and voted according to his choice. ENS

It's vote against BJP-JDS alliance: DKS

SOMASHEKAR defended his move, alleging that Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, whom he claimed to have voted for during the last RS polls, did not give grants for development or an appointment to meet her. "I exercised my franchise as per my conscience and also showed it to the authorised leader (the BJP agent)," he said after casting his vote.

"The JDS-BJP alliance is further strengthened by the Rajya Sabha elections. The traitor (Somashekar) who jumped from Congress to BJP and enjoyed power now betrayed BJP by cross-voting. Neither BJP, nor I am shocked. The real game is in the Lok Sabha elections," said JDS state president HD Kumaraswamy.

JDS and BJP workers protested, alleging that a large amount of money had exchanged hands for Somashekar to cross vote. They burnt his effigy and demanded his disqualification as MLA.

The BJP leadership, including state president BY Vijayendra and Leader of Opposition R Ashoka, discussed punitive action against Somashekar. They are likely to take the issue forward after getting the advice from the BJP high command.

"Somashekar cast his vote as per his conscience. It's a vote against the unholy BJP-JDS alliance," said Deputy Chief Minister and KPCC president DK Shivakumar, adding that he will consider extending legal support to Somashekar.

"We are aware of what could have happened if our numbers wobbled a bit," he remarked, replying to Kumaraswamy's statement that for JDS, keeping the flock together was more important than winning or losing the RS polls.

Despite its 134 MLAs, Congress seemed to be under pressure and had moved its MLAs to a hotel on Monday evening to prevent cross voting in favour of Kupendra Reddy, who had allegedly contacted 41 Congress MLAs over phone.

Independents Latha Mallikarjun and Puttaswamy Gowda, Sarvodaya Karnataka Party MLA Darshan Puttannaiah and KRPP Gangavathi MLA and mining baron Gali Janardhana Reddy also helped Congress. " I exercised my franchise as per my conscience," Reddy said.

"A testimony to the leadership, policies, programmes & indelible commitment to the cause of Karnataka by CM Siddaramaiah and PCC President DKShivakumar," AICC General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala posted on X.

'Violation in RS voting not same as one in House'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WHAT happens, legally speaking, to BJP MLA ST Somashekar, who cross-voted in favour of Ajay Maken of Congress in the Rajya Sabha elections held at Vidhana Soudha on Tuesday?

Supreme Court advocate KV Dhananjay said, "Legally speaking, elections to the Rajya Sabha are not covered in the 10th Schedule of the Constitution."

Asked whether any action can be taken against Somashekar, Dhananjay said the political party can take action against an MLA or MP. A violation of a whip issued by BJP to vote for a certain candidate is not the same as a violation of a whip during a no-confidence motion in the House, he pointed out.

If Somashekar resigns, he could be disqualified under the 10th Schedule. If he gives up membership, then BJP can complain to the Speaker.

If BJP issues a show-cause notice to its MLA, hears him and expels him, he will continue to be an MLA. He will be bound by the future whip of the party. In the future, if BJP issues a whip to its MLAs in the House, such a whip will also be binding on the MLA. If the Speaker disqualifies an MLA, a bypoll will be held, and the disqualified MLA will be eligible to contest the bypoll.

HDK fails to garner support, blames Cong for cross-vote

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

THE biggest loser in the Rajya Sabha election is not Kupendra Reddy, but former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy. His loss of face and anger were palpable when he protested and addressed the media after the election, in which Reddy managed to get only 36 votes.

Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre, who is also KPCC working president, said, "The JDS was dependent on the BJP to deliver a win in the Rajya Sabha election. It is obvious the BJP ditched the JDS, and did not support the JDS candidate with its extra votes. Kumaraswamy may now have realised the cost of aligning with the BJP. It shows the alliance may not last and could break before the Lok Sabha poll.''

Said one analyst, "When the JDS fielded Kupendra Reddy with a mere 19 votes, it was looking for a win with cross-votes from the Congress and independents, who had professed their support for the Congress. Since that did not happen, they are crying foul."

A source close to Kumaraswamy indicated that the BJP encouraged JDS to put up a candidate, knowing fully well that they had insufficient votes. While some sources say the JDS is blaming BJP after the defeat, the fact remains that party leaders should have assessed the situation better before putting up a candidate.

Lashing out at the Congress for cross-voting by BJP MLA B Somashekhar, Kumaraswamy said the grand old party claims to uphold values of democracy and the Constitution. "The Congress has been credited with birthing the concept of cross-voting in the election system. It is a stain on the country's politics. The Congress won the Rajya Sabha election not by conscience vote but by cross-vote,'' he said. "Those who jumped from Congress to BJP and enjoyed power have now betrayed the same BJP by cross-voting. BJP is not shocked by this, neither am I. The real game is the Lok Sabha elections," he said.

Political analyst B S Murthy disagreed. "The loss in the recent Council election and big loss in the Rajya Sabha election has caused a massive setback for the JDS, with little scope for recovery," he said.

BJP to take up 'Pak slogan' matter in both Houses today

OPPOSITION BJP accused Congress leader's supporters of raising "pro-Pakistan slogans" and demanded their arrest. BJP is also likely to take up the issue in the Assembly and Council on Wednesday.

Senior BJP leader and MLC N Ravi Kumar said, "A sedition case should be registered against those who raised pro-Pakistan slogans in Vidhana Soudha corridors."

Senior BJP leaders, including former home minister Araga Jnanendra, protested outside Vidhana Soudha police station on Tuesday evening.

Taking to X, BJP state president BY Vijayendra said the anti-national elements must be arrested immediately. "Despite evidence, if the Congress government tries to protect anti-nationals, it will be held responsible for the consequences," he said.

"Shameless @INCKarnataka workers shouted Pakistan Zindabad slogans in the Karnataka Assembly to celebrate Congress candidate Naseer Hussain's victory in the Rajya Sabha election. This is a direct fallout of CM @siddaramaiah and DCM @DKShivakumar's' dangerous game of appeasement politics which has emboldened anti-national elements and tukde tukde gang," Ashoka posted on X.

Mahadevappa unwilling, Siddu hunts for Ch'nagar LS candidate

K SHIVAKUMAR @ Mysuru

WITH Lok Sabha elections fast approaching, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, tasked with winning a minimum of 20 seats in Karnataka, has started shortlisting prospective candidates. He is keen to wrest Mysuru and Chamarajanagar Lok Sabha seats – both in his backyard -- besides a maximum number of seats in Old Mysuru region, that the Congress swept in the assembly elections.

The Congress leadership wants a few ministers to contest, including Social Welfare Minister HC Mahadevappa from Chamarajanagar seat. The party claimed that survey reports are in favour of Mahadevappa, a veteran leader from T Narsipur assembly seat which falls in Chamarajanagar constituency. His son and Youth Congress leader Sunil Bose is a strong aspirant for the Lok Sabha ticket, as he couldn't get the ticket from Nanjangud or T Narsipur.

With Mahadevappa making it loud and clear that he would not contest the LS election, fresh trouble is brewing for Siddaramaiah, who will have to find another candidate. Though Mahadevappa is known to be Siddaramaiah's confidant from their Janata Party days in the 1980s, they are now at loggerheads. Mahadevappa has pointed out that there are many popular leaders in the party who should be fielded.

The minister, who was instrumental in organising Mahaparinirvan Diwas to mark the death anniversary of BR Ambedkar and Dalit convention in Chitradurga, is also credited with organising the Constitution Awareness convention in Bengaluru, that was widely appreciated by intellectuals, Dalits and progressive thinkers across the country.

The Dalit community wants Mahadevappa to continue in state politics and fears that his exit will create a leadership vacuum, as veteran leader V Srinivasa Prasad has joined the BJP and Congress leader R Dhruvanarayana is no more.

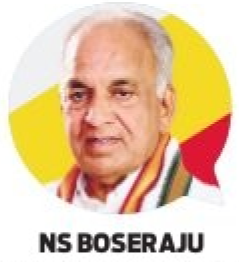
Party insiders and Dalit leaders fear the party will not be able to convince the community that Mahadevappa should contest the Lok Sabha election. The Congress wants Mahadevappa to serve the party at the national level, and make way for other senior legislators to join the ministry. It is also learnt that Mahadevappa may contest if the CM and DCM issue a statement that his services are no more required for the state. His aides have hinted that he will put in his papers and continue as legislator.

Meanwhile, Mahadevappa's reluctance has prompted B Somashekhar, former MP Shivanna, former MLA Nanjundaswamy, Mahila Congress president Pushpa Amarnath and others to throw their hats in the ring.

Sources revealed that Shivakumar is likely to hold talks with Nanjangud MLA Darshan Dhruvnarayana to contest. Though Darshan is in no mood to plunge into national politics, the party feels it has the advantage of the sympathy factor following Dhruvanarayana's death.

Siddaramaiah may prevail on Mahadevappa to contest, or pick a dark horse who is acceptable to all communities. Local legislators and leaders have authorised Siddaramaiah to decide on the candidate.

Fostering a culture of scientific temper: A path to progress



NS BOSERAJU
Minister for Science & Technology, Minor Irrigation and Leader of the House in the Legislative Council

IN the realm of societal progress and innovation, the cultivation of a scientific temper stands as a foundational pillar. It is imperative to foster a culture of scientific thinking and inquiry among common people and youth. By empowering individuals with the tools to understand and appreciate scientific concepts, we can pave the way for a more informed and rational society. We all know that scientific temper, a term popularised by India's first Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, embodies a mindset that values evidence, reason, and critical thinking. Subsequently, the Congress party recognised the transformative power of scientific thinking and enshrined it in Part IV-A of the Constitution by the 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act, 1976, as a fundamental duty. Article 51A(h) of the Constitution states that it is the fundamental duty of every citizen to develop scientific temper, humanism and the spirit of inquiry and reform. This constitutional provision emphasises the importance of scientific temper in the nation's ethos and its role in fostering a peaceful, progressive, and prosperous society.

Scientific temper is not merely about scientific knowledge, but also about a way of approaching the world with curiosity, scepticism and a quest for deeper understanding. In Karnataka, the legacy of promoting rationality and scientific thinking can be traced back to the works of Kuvempu, the revered Kannada writer and thinker. Kuvempu's emphasis on using rationality and logic in understanding the world around us resonates strongly with the need to promote scientific temper in our society today.

In a country like India, where diverse beliefs and traditions coexist, the promotion of scientific temper becomes even more crucial. Superstitious beliefs, rooted deeply in blind practices and rituals, often hinder the path of progress. It is of utmost importance to counter these beliefs, and education plays a pivotal role here. By incorporating scientific thinking into the curriculum from an early age, we can instill a mindset that questions, analyses and seeks evidence. Beyond the classroom, popular media, cultural representations, and physical spaces demonstrating scientific aspects in real life can also play a significant role in promoting scientific temper. Television shows, movies, and books that portray science and reason in a positive light can help change societal perceptions. Moreover, initiatives like science centres, science fairs, and science-themed events can make science more accessible and engaging to the public, especially to those in rural areas.

The role of the government in fostering scientific temper is paramount. In Karnataka, under the visionary leadership of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, our government has launched several initiatives to promote scientific thinking among youth and the general public. To generate interest among students in stargazing and astronomy, our government has decided to provide telescopes to 833 schools and PU colleges under KRIES at a cost of Rs 3 crore in the financial year 2024-25. This is a revolutionary step towards encouraging scientific curiosity and exploration at an early age by nurturing curiosity and critical thinking skills at the grassroots level. Along with this, to provide an activity-based learning environment to students and to create awareness in the public about the advancements in science and technology, our government is setting up science centres and planetariums in all Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities. A total of Rs 170 crore is earmarked in the current year for this purpose. Additionally, to portray the growth of science and technology and to promote science education, a Science City in Bengaluru will be established in association with the Government of India at a total cost of Rs 233 crore. These initiatives not only aim to impart scientific knowledge but also to inspire a sense of wonder and curiosity about the world around us. These initiatives empower the common man, making them active stakeholders in the scientific process.

Along with these landmark initiatives, our government has also set up the Karnataka State Research Foundation and E-KRDIP to strengthen the capacity for research and innovation, to drive the regional ecosystem, and to support rural innovations. We are confident that the proposed KSRF and E-KRDIP will help us achieve this objective. We are also working on a policy aimed at empowering rural innovators as well as conducting a Rural Innovators Summit akin to the Tech Summits. Along with promoting scientific temper, these initiatives will pave the way for economic growth and sustainable development in rural communities.

Under the guidance and visionary leadership of our CM and DCM, our department's goal is to make our programmes and policies accessible and available to all, in accordance with the visions of "Ease of Understanding Science," "Science for All" and "Innovate and Inspire". Our vision revolves around igniting curiosity and creating an environment that fosters innovation, particularly in rural areas. Our government is dedicated to pushing the boundaries of scientific temper and constitutional patriotism further in our state by implementing policies that create an enabling environment where scientific temper is not only encouraged but celebrated.

In conclusion, to enhance scientific temperament, it is crucial to emphasise the practical relevance of science in everyday life. Cultivating scientific temperament among common people is a crucial investment in the future of society. The promotion of scientific temper is not just a matter of education, but a cultural and societal shift towards rational thinking and evidence-based decision-making. By instilling a scientific mindset from an early age, encouraging critical thinking and providing access to resources and opportunities, we can build a society that is not only scientifically literate but also progressive, inclusive, and prosperous.

The success of democracy and social progress cannot happen without promoting science and rational knowledge. Scientific temper and rationality are not the end but the means for robust discussion, debate, and decision-making to make our systems and beliefs more meaningful and inclusive, showing us a way for peace, progress, and prosperity. As we commemorate National Science Day, let us renew our commitment to cultivating a culture of scientific temper and rationality in order to build a better, more prosperous future.

WORKS OF DMK AN INSULT TO MGR: PM

Says I.N.D.I.A fuelled by hatred for Modi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tiruppur

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said the constituents of INDIA bloc have accepted their poll defeat but continue their alliance to loot people. “The voters, however, have made up their mind to prevent it. In TN, too, the BJP is preparing to end the politics of corruption,” the PM said during his address at the valedictory function of Tamil Nadu BJP president K Annamalai’s ‘En Mann En Makkal Yatra’ held at Palladam in Tiruppur on Tuesday. Modi stated that in the last 10 years, the BJP government at the Centre has allocated more funds for development projects in Tamil Nadu than any time in the past.

“Between 2004 and 2014, long-time allies DMK and Congress shared power in the UPA regime. But they never prioritised Tamil Nadu’s development. No development took place during the Congress rule, but the BJP regime has been making dedicated efforts to ensure the development of Tamil Nadu. About Rs 2 lakh crore has been given to entrepreneurs in Tamil Nadu under the MUDRA Yojana,” the PM said.

“The opposition parties that are currently dominating Tamil Nadu will never let the state develop,” the PM said.

Attacking the opposition alliance, he said, those making futile attempts to break India must come here and see how Tamil Nadu is going to create history. “Those who make alliances must note that Tamil Nadu is going to lead the destiny of Bharat. BJP may have never been in power in Tamil Nadu, but Tamil Nadu has always been in the heart of the BJP,” he said at the rally.

Invoking the legacy of AIADMK stalwarts MG Ramachandran and J Jayalalithaa, Modi said, “MGR was a true leader but the working of DMK in Tamil Nadu today is an insult to his name. If there was anyone after MGR, it was Jayalalithaa who gave her life for the welfare of the people,” he added. “While the BJP is focusing on developing the country, the INDIA bloc is solely fuelled by hatred for Modi,” the PM said.

4 IAF OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR GAGANYAAN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

THE country on Tuesday named four Indian Air Force officers - Group Captains Prasanth Balakrishnan Nair, Angad Prathap, Ajit Krishnan and Wing Commander Shubhanshu Shukla - as astronaut-designates for the Gaganyaan mission, India's inaugural crewed spaceflight mission. The names were announced during the visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to the Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre (VSSC) in Thiruvananthapuram on Tuesday. The PM presented 'astronaut wings' to the four officers.

Prasanth Nair, a native of Nenmara in Palakkad, had joined the Air Force as fighter pilot after his training at National Defence Academy in 1999. The astronaut-designates are being given extensive training in Russia and various centres of ISRO, for the scheduled launch next year. Speaking on the occasion, the PM termed introduction of the four Gaganyaan passengers a historic occasion. "They are not just four names or individuals, they are four 'Shakti' of carrying the aspirations of 140 crore Indians into space", the PM said. He further added, "An Indian is going into space after 40 years. However, now, the time, the countdown and the rocket belongs to us."

Expressing delight in meeting and introducing the astronaut-designates to the nation, the Prime Minister wished them on behalf of the entire nation. Referring to the astronaut-designates, the Prime Minister said that their names have been conjoined with India's success and they symbolize trust, courage, valor and discipline of India. He lauded their dedication and spirit towards training and said that they are the representatives of India's Amrit generation that never gives up and shows the strength to challenge all adversities. Underlining that India's space sector's major contribution is sowing the seeds of scientific temperament among the young generations, the Prime Minister said that the time of landing of Chandrayaan 2 was a learning experience for every child.

SC to K’taka: Form panel for Murugha Mutt in 3 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chitradurga

CTHE Supreme Court on Tuesday directed the Karnataka government to set up a committee within three days to administer the affairs of Murugha Mutt and SJM educational institutions.

A bench of Justice Vikram Nath and Justice Prashant Kumar Mishra was hearing a Special Leave Petition (Criminal) filed by former minister H Ekanthaiah challenging the final judgment passed by the Karnataka High Court in a writ petition.

“We direct Karnataka that in case a committee to administer the mutt/institution has not already been constituted, it should be done forthwith, and within three days from today (Tuesday). It should be ensured that neither the petitioner (H Ekanthaiah) in the SLP(Crl) No 13943 of 2023 nor the common respondent (Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru) have anything to do with the management of the mutt/institution in question,” the bench said.

Further, the bench said the interim direction will continue till the disposal of the petitions filed by Ekanthaiah.

Karnataka’s counsel initially stated that the mutt was being supervised by a committee constituted by the state under the chairmanship of a district Judge, but later he submitted that he will need time to confirm this and place it on record by way of counter affidavit. The court then granted the state two weeks to file counter affidavit(s).

Senior counsel Sidharth Luthra, appearing for Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, submitted that a counter affidavit has already been filed, and requested the court to grant two weeks to file additional documents, which will be necessary for proper adjudication of these matters.

The court also posted the next date of hearing to April 2.

CONSUMPTION STORY GETS BETTER, BUT GROWTH IS TOO SLOW FOR COMFORT

THE prime minister has taken pains to emphasise India's strong consumption story. He said on Monday that consumption has risen 2.5 times over the last decade and poverty declined to its lowest level. He said this was a sea change from the pre-2014 regime. The PM also underlined consumption had grown at a faster pace in rural areas as the government's focus was on 'villages, the poor and farmers'. That there has been rapid progress in consumption, and therefore in the quality of life, is supported by the recently-released Household Consumption Expenditure Survey carried out between August 2022 and July 2023.

However, what it also shows is the increase in consumption is much more modest than claimed—the average monthly per capita consumption expenditure in Indian households rose 33.5 percent since 2011-12 in urban households to ₹3,510, while rural consumption rose 40.4 percent to ₹2,008. Looking at it another way, the survey of 2.6 lakh households—the largest in the world—showed that consumption growth slowed a little in the 2012-2023 period compared to 2004-2011. If we just take rural areas for the 8-year period from 2004 to 2011, growth was 147 percent or 18 percent a year; on the other hand, the growth registered during 2012-2023 was 164 percent or an annual average of 15 percent.

One important takeaway is that the proportion spent on food has dropped to 46.4 percent for rural households from 52.9 percent in 2011-12, while urban folk spent 39.2 percent of their overall monthly outgo on food compared with 42.6 percent just over a decade ago. This means people are now spending more on other essentials—a significant indicator of a better quality of life. However, if people are still spending as much as 40-50 percent on food, it still leaves very little to buy other essentials and services. There are also the red flags being raised by consumer goods companies, whose sales are a bell-weather for consumption trends. Retail intelligence firm Bizom said consumer goods sales contracted 4.5 percent in the October-December 2023 quarter compared to the year-ago quarter. Again, if one accounts for inflation, the consumption figures indicate more a growth in value than in volume; and much of the growth is at the luxury end. It is evident that more work is needed on our consumption story to grow incomes and reduce inequality.

NEW URBAN LOCAL BODIES SHOULDN'T BLEED ODISHA

LATE last week, the Odisha government announced the upgrade of 35 semi-urban entities—most of them rural bodies—into notified area councils (NACs). It also accorded municipality status to five existing NACs. In municipal administration hierarchy, where corporations sit at the top, NACs are at the entry level. The move is being seen as an attempt to push the state's urban growth. The 35 new NACs will take the total number of urban local bodies (ULBs) in the state to 150. A number of areas which served as block headquarters will get an upgrade to ULB once the government notifies its order. The decision, however, has run into controversy with the opposition calling it unconstitutional, seeking ratification of the state cabinet and amendments in the assembly. Since the decision has come right before the elections, it is being dubbed as a poll gimmick. Creation of the NACs will demarcate the territories as urban areas separate from panchayati raj institutions.

While the BJD government is expected to bring more clarity to the move in the coming days, on the face of it the decision is welcome. Odisha's urbanisation has been rather slow over decades. From around 11 per cent in 2001, state's urbanisation stood at barely 17 per cent in 2011. This move would allow the state to improve its urban share at a time NITI Aayog is projecting that half of India's population will be in cities by 2047. More ULBs is expected to bring urban planning into play along with deployment of better amenities for larger populations. Cities are also known to attract more investment and livelihood opportunities. Expanding urban spaces will also address the needs of the aspiring young generation and help combat the high urban migration that is a cause of concern.

The Naveen Patnaik government will have its task cut out. The new ULBs, as and when they come into being, will have to create a tax base, get down to revenue generation for urban services and be responsible for planned development, which would take time. A recent auditor general report checked 20 ULBs for five years and found their own revenue as a ratio of capital expenditure was 23 percent. Care must be taken that these bodies do not end up being a burden on state finance.

QUICK TAKE

BOARDS SHOULD FIX LEAKS

PAPER leaks are rocking the exam season yet again. An ISC chemistry paper has been rescheduled after a leak. This came days after the cancellation of a police recruitment exam in Uttar Pradesh; Chief Minister Adityanath called cheating a "national sin". Paper leaks have become so common in recent years that students have at times pranked education boards alleging leaks and upending schedules. Last year, leaks were reported in Telangana, Maharashtra, Assam and Rajasthan. Such disruptions can delay or damage the prospects of whole generations. The cases need persistent probes and deterrent punishment. Education boards should be held squarely responsible for ensuring the sanctity of the exam process.

The Modi government has taken to heart several directives laid out in Part IV of the Indian Constitution. Working towards a welfare state is one of the principles

PAYING HEED TO THE WORDS OF THE FOUNDING FATHERS

A SURYA PRAKASH

Vice-Chairman, Executive Council, Prime Ministers Museum and Library, New Delhi

THE western media and much of the English media in the country have been describing the Modi government as a 'right wing' government. This is absurd when you consider the massive investments made by the government over the last 10 years on poverty alleviation and to ensure ease of living for families below the poverty line. Those who lazily indulge in this left-versus-right binary seem to forget that the Indian Constitution imposes an obligation on every government to work towards a welfare state. These provisions are outlined in Part IV, titled the Directive Principles of State Policy.

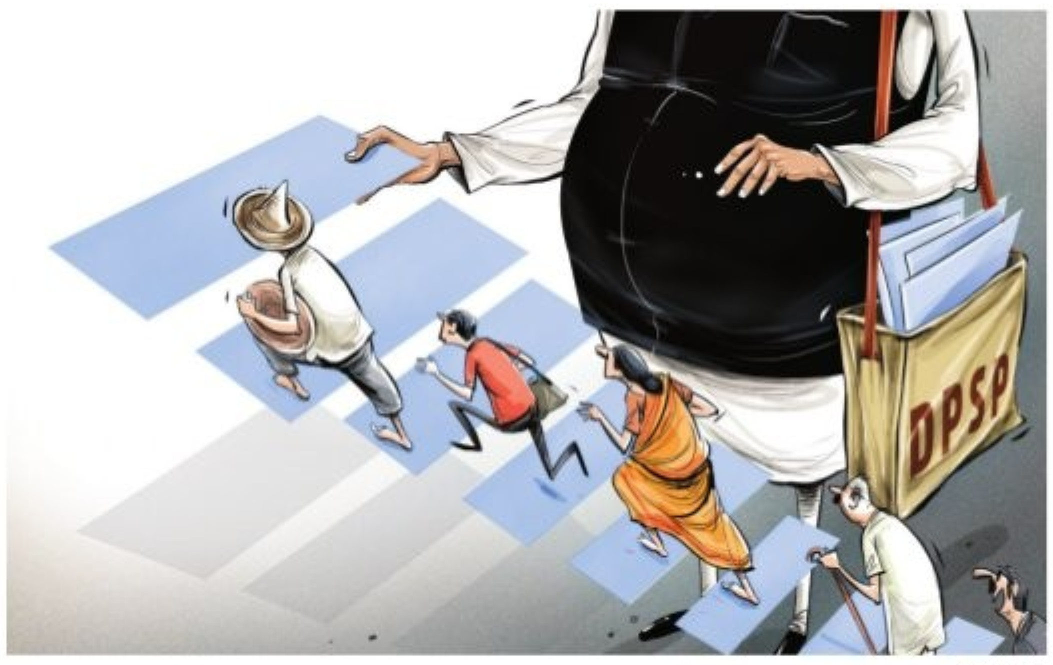
The directive principles have gained considerable heft over the last few decades with the Supreme Court pushing the envelope and insisting on the enforceability of these provisions. But it is left to the wisdom and commitment of each government on how much importance it would give to Part IV. Some governments have occasionally taken these provisions seriously, as when the Indira Gandhi government launched loan melas for the poor in the 1970s after the nationalisation of banks. But the programme got mired in controversy because it soon degenerated into 'Congress melas' and was not backed up by impartial implementation and monitoring.

When these principles become the guiding postulates for the government and when the prime minister sets punishing targets for each ministry, monitors the results regularly and ensures impartial implementation—Sabka saath, sabka vikas—the directive principles cease to be mere platitudes. They become the fulcrum of governance, as in the case of the Narendra Modi government.

Article 39 expects the State to take care of the "health and strength of workers" and to ensure that children are not abused. Article 47 says the State must regard it as a "primary duty" to raise the level of nutrition and the standard of living and to improve public health.

The Modi government's Ayushman Bharat scheme is the largest health insurance scheme in the world which provides cashless health cover up to ₹5 lakh per family per year to 120 million of the most vulnerable families with 550 million members who are at the bottom of the pyramid. This is a perfect example of the link between directive principles and good governance.

Similarly, the delivery of free ration every month to 810 million people is meant to ensure that the basic food needs of the poor are met. This is truly astounding. No other nation in the world can possibly visualise such a mammoth programme and ensure its diligent delivery month after month. This is a scheme that injects life into Article 47. Several governments in the past have offered free rations to the poor but the delivery of this programme to 810 million people by the Modi government is truly staggering.



SOURAV ROY

Add to this, provision of tap water to 140 million households; subsidy for construction of toilets in 110 million households; and provision of subsidised LPG connections to 100 million households. These are just some examples of schemes which are in complete consonance with the directive principles. There are complaints that the toilet scheme and the tap water scheme have not been effectively implemented in some regions or by some states. This is the result of either petty politics or poor administration at the local level, but that cannot take away the grand vision and overall effort towards improving the lot of the poor.

Article 42 directs the State to ensure that there is "just, humane conditions of work" and "maternity relief". The government's landmark initiative to increase the maternity leave provision for women workers from 12 to 26 weeks is a major initiative and a humane measure to enhance the emotional and physical wellbeing of the newborn and the mother. This is Article 42 at work.

Article 41 says the State should take effective steps to ensure "right to work, to education and to public assistance in cases of unemployment, old age, sickness and disablement and in other cases of underserved want". There is a lot of emphasis on gender equality and women's empowerment in Articles 39, 41 and 42. The registration of 70 percent of the homes built under the PM Awas Yojana, all subsidised cooking gas connections in the name of the woman of the household, and the massive investment in the toilet scheme are prime examples of these articles permeating government policy.

Article 43 directs the State to ensure a proper living wage and working conditions for the working class. Over many decades, several governments have strengthened labour laws. The Modi government has taken this forward by bringing in the labour reforms bill in 2020.

When one examines what the Modi government has delivered over the last 10 years, one can see that the entire effort has been to improve the living conditions of poor families and to fulfil the objectives listed by the founding fathers in the directive principles. It is a daunting task, but the government's approach is one of confidence.

In the Nehruvian era, it was said that the directive principles in Part IV are just a bunch of shibboleths and a set of grandiose ideas that are unworkable. Also, since Part IV declares that these provisions are unenforceable in courts of law, it was thought that these were just pious intentions of the founding fathers.

In recent years, the Supreme Court has in several judgements elevated the status of Part IV and, more importantly, injected new life into these articles. Seen from this angle, the Modi government will score high on the enforcement of these principles. Even hardcore communist governments in the states have not had the gumption or the vision to implement such far-reaching social welfare schemes. Nor could the communists do much when they supported or became part of some fleeting coalition governments at the federal level in the past.

Thus, the Modi government is a right wing government if the word 'right' means doing the right thing. If it is meant to dub the government as ideologically right as opposed to the ideological left, then the critics would be way off the mark, because the Modi government has decided to make the directive principles the Magna Carta of poverty alleviation.

A TALE OF TWO DECADES

PRAVEEN CHAKRAVARTY

Chairman, All India Professionals' Congress and a former political economy scholar

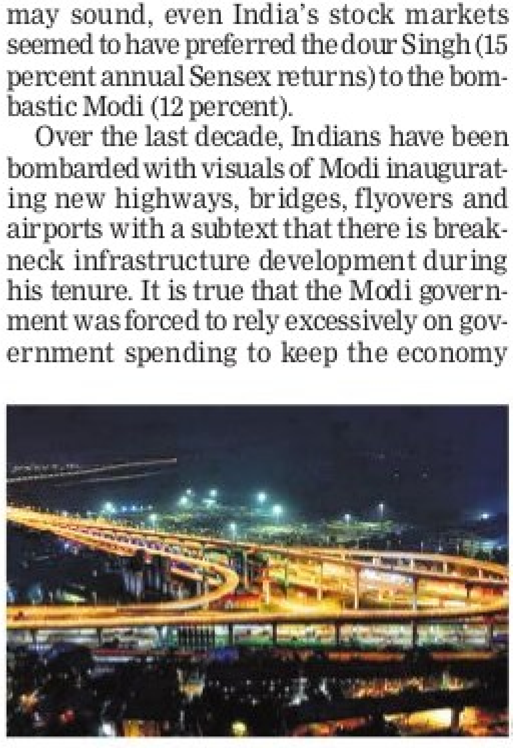
"RELIGIOUS communalism in the country may have increased, but economic and infrastructure development have been better in the Narendra Modi tenure," remarked a large foreign investor to me in a recent meeting. This is an oft-repeated refrain of investors and elites when assessing Prime Minister Modi's decade-long performance. The notion that the Modi government has compensated more than adequately for its communal sins by its vastly improved economic performance—as if the two are comparable—has been drilled into the subconscious of the privileged who are unscathed by religious bigotry. Yet, this is a fallacy.

Let us start with the basics. The economic white paper released recently by the finance minister claimed that the average Indian's income has grown from roughly $4,000 in 2014 to $6,000 in Modi's tenure. But the average Indian's income grew faster between 2004 and 2014 at 6 percent, versus 4 percent between 2014 and 2024. To put it simply, Indians enjoyed greater increases in their incomes under Manmohan Singh than under Modi, and this was the case even before Covid. Not just incomes, but overall economic activity measured either as nominal or real GDP growth was also higher in Manmohan Singh's decade than in Modi's, something that even most watchful commentators seem oblivious to.

Incomes did not rise as rapidly during the Modi era because good quality jobs, usually provided by the private sector, were fewer. Jobs were fewer because the corporate sector did not invest as much as they did in the previous decade. Despite the hymns of praise that the corporate honchos may have sung for Modi, private sector investment fell from 26 percent of GDP during Manmohan Singh's regime to 22 percent during Modi's. For all the sloganeering, manufacturing as a share of economic activity declined from 17 percent to 14 percent. Because the private sector did not demonstrate confidence through increased investments, India's exports also fell from 17 percent of GDP (UPA) to 13 percent (NDA). Exports is one of the most important engines of job creation and hence it is little wonder that jobs and incomes grew much slower under Modi.

It turns out that even foreign investors were not as enamoured with the Modi government. Net foreign direct investment into India dropped from 1.2 percent of GDP (UPA) to 0.8 percent (NDA). So, for all the hugging of world leaders and ₹1,310 crore of public money spent on hosting a lavish G20 summit, foreign investors did not exactly kiss our land with investment dollars. Consequently, India's foreign exchange reserves only doubled under Modi while it nearly tripled under Singh. Surprising as it may sound, even India's stock markets seemed to have preferred the dour Singh (15 percent annual Sensex returns) to the bombastic Modi (12 percent).

Over the last decade, Indians have been bombarded with visuals of Modi inaugurating new highways, bridges, flyovers and airports with a subtext that there is breakneck infrastructure development during his tenure. It is true that the Modi government was forced to rely excessively on government spending to keep the economy afloat with capital expenditure. But contrary to perception, overall infrastructure development was not multiple times faster under Modi than in the previous decade except in a few areas. The Modi government built just 20 percent more highways than the Singh government, while both constructed roughly the same 3.5 lakh km of rural roads in 10 years. Creditably, the Modi government built three times more airports and electrified four times more rail routes than the Singh government. And for all the hullabaloo about Swachh Bharat, the Modi government built only 20 percent more toilets, not 200 percent. In short, the Modi government continued the infrastructure development laid by the UPA at the expected pace and not at some orbital velocity, as it is made out to be.



PTI

> Narendra Modi has done better than Manmohan Singh on a few counts such as sanitation, water, cooking gas and some infrastructure sectors. But income growth, investment and even stock markets performed better during Singh's decade. And Modi hasn't outperformed Singh on health, education and defence

Neither did the Modi government outperform the Singh government in core areas of health, education and defence. The UPA left office with 4.6 percent of total expenditure on education which was cut significantly to 3 percent by this government. Despite the pandemic, health expenditure has been maintained at 1.7 percent, while defence expenditure has been lowered to 14 percent from 16 percent of the total expenditure. In terms of livelihood improvements for rural poor, access to cooking fuel, sanitation and water has improved significantly under Modi, while access to electricity grew faster under Singh. Subsidies for the poor were cut drastically from 16 percent in Singh's time to 9 percent by Modi.

Investors tend to focus on two important macroeconomic indicators—fiscal discipline and inflation. Even on this, the scorecard is balanced. Singh's government had a lower fiscal and revenue deficit than Modi's. While inflation has been reined in under Modi, it was helped largely by low global crude oil prices.

Overall, it is a complete myth that the Modi government has managed the economy better, built more infrastructure and attracted greater investment, as shown in the government's own data. The rhetoric about growth in infrastructure, GDP, forex reserves and so on blared everyday have instilled this false sense of superiority of the Modi government's economic performance in even numbers-savvy investors. But it is like claiming that a 10-year-old has turned 20 after a decade, which is an inevitability, regardless of whether Modi or actor Akshay Kumar was the prime minister.

At the same time, it is indisputable that social divisions, religious bigotry and communal hatred plague our society far more now. We do not live in an economy; we live in a society. Dividing people along religious lines and disrupting India's social equilibrium alone should be reason enough for most, and certainly the liberal elites, to abhor this government. To boot, contrary to perception, they do not even deliver far superior economic performance. Social harmony with solid economic performance or communal unrest with similar economic performance—the choice should be obvious, isn't it?

Ref: Reimagine federalism to reduce Centre-state spats (Feb 27). The growth of states is essential for the overall growth of the country. RAJYA SABHA POLLS

6 Cong, 3 independent MLAs cross-vote, Himachal govt in tatters

CM Sukhu is slated to present state budget in the assembly today

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

AMID cross-voting for the lone Rajya Sabha seat from Himachal Pradesh, BJP candidate Harsh Mahajan was declared elected to the upper house from the hill state on Tuesday after a draw of lots as both the candidates polled 34 votes each.

Out of the 40 MLAs of the ruling Congress, six legislators cross-voted, resulting in defeat of party candidate Abhishek Manu Singhvi.

Mahajan, who was earlier in the Congress, polled 34 votes, which includes 25 BJP lawmakers, six Congress MLAs and three Independents in the 68-member Himachal Pradesh assembly.

After the result, the BJP claimed that the Congress government is in a minority. The state budget has to be passed on Wednesday and if the government fails to do so, it loses legitimacy.

All the nine MLAs, including six of the Congress, escorted by the CRPF and Haryana Police, came to Panchkula in Haryana from Shimla and stayed at the government guest house for 45 minutes, after which they were shifted to a five-star private hotel, people privy to the developments said.

Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu said that the MLAs who cross-voted have sold their integrity as they have defeated the BJP candidates in their respective constituencies in the assembly polls. "They had dinner with us and breakfast. They were swearing loyalty to us till morning and promised that they are with the party. What can you say about them?'' he asked.

"I would like to thank the nine MLAs because they have taught me a lot about human nature, its fickleness or its resoluteness. They supped with us. So, I think we are bad judges of human character," Singhvi said.

Leader of Opposition and former chief minister Jai Ram Thakur demanded that Sukhu must resign. "Despite having such a huge majority, Congress lost the RS seat," he said.

When asked if the BJP would demand a floor test, Thakur claimed that the Sukhu-led government is in a minority. He said, "The budget will be presented tomorrow. We will discuss the budget and then we will see the situation there. But I can see that the government has lost the majority.''

Himachal Pradesh Congress president Pratibha Singh accused the BJP of horse-trading but said that some Congress MLAs were unhappy with the government.

'New culture in politics'

Abhishek Manu Singhvi, the Congress candidate who was defeated in the Rajya Sabha poll in Himachal Pradesh on Tuesday, criticised the BJP for introducing a "new culture" in politics and said the fact that the saffron party fielded a nominee against a party that has 40 members compared to its 25, clearly shows that it wants to win elections by hook or crook and more by crook. If this is the culture of "New India," Singhvi said that he would rather like to be a part of the old India.

Drubbing for Akhilesh as party's chief whip among 7 SP MLAs decide to side with BJP

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE BJP on Tuesday bagged eight out of 10 Rajya Sabha seats in Uttar Pradesh, dealing a jolt to main opposition Samajwadi Party which witnessed cross-voting by seven of its MLAs in favour of the ruling party candidates.

The seven SP MLAs who voted for the BJP candidates included Abhay Singh, Rakesh Pratap Singh, Rakesh Pandey, Manoj Pandey (SP chief whip), Ashutosh Maurya, Vinod Chaturvedi and Puja Pal. One SP MLA, Maharaji Devi, abstained and did not turn up to cast her vote.

The BJP also got support of the two MLAs of Raja Bhaiyya-led Jansatta Dal-Loktantrik and of lone BSP MLA Umashankar Singh.

Two of the three SP candidates could make it to the Rajya Sabha in a high-pitched battle for the 10 seats in UP.

The BJP with 252 MLAs along with 33 votes of allies, including 13 of Apna Dal (S), nine of RLD, 6 of NISHAD, 05 of SBSP, had seven seats locked, while the SP, with 108 lawmakers and two of INDIA ally Congress, was looking at a three-seat return.

While the BJP got 294 votes with six of its eight winning candidates, including Sudhanshu Trivedi, Sadhna Singh, Sangeeta Balwant, Amrapal Maurya, Chaudhury Tejveer Singh, and Navin Jain, securing 38 votes each. While former Union minister RPN Singh got 37 votes, Sanjay Seth, 8th BJP candidate, got 29 first preference votes.

SP got 100 votes with Jaya Bachchan securing 41 and Ramjilal Suman 40. The third SP candidate and former UP Chief Secretary Alok Ranjan lost the battle as he got just 19 votes.

Akhilesh Yadav took to X saying he had fielded the third candidate just to identify the true companion. "Our third seat (bid) was actually a test to identify true companions. It was to know who is with people from the backward classes, Dalits and minority communities and whose 'inner voice' is against them. Now everything is clear. This is our third seat victory," Yadav said.

Jaishankar says Gaza war matter of grave concern

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

THE conflict in Gaza is of great concern to all, said External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, virtually addressing the high-level segment of the 55th United Nations Human Rights Council in Geneva.

"The humanitarian crises arising from conflicts require a sustainable solution that gives immediate relief to those most affected. At the same time, we must be clear that terrorism and hostage taking are unacceptable. It also goes without saying that international humanitarian law must always be respected. It is vital that the conflict does not spread within or beyond the region. And efforts must also focus on seeking a two-State solution, where Palestinian people can live within secure borders," said Jaishankar.

In the collective interest of the world, he said, there was a need to work together in the UN and outside, and find lasting solutions to geopolitical challenges. Reflecting on the current global realities, he said that there is a need to bring about reforms in the UN and make multilateral frameworks fit for the purpose.

"India remains committed to working with Council members and observers for promotion and protection of all human rights. India's approach to human rights is rooted in our democratic principles and pluralistic ethos. Our Constitution guarantees protection of civil and political rights and provides for progressive realisation of economic, social and cultural rights. Our society and polity are anchored by our institutional strengths of an independent judiciary, robust media, and vibrant civil society. These values have continued to inform India's policies, domestically and globally. And therefore, I believe, we have much to contribute," Jaishankar added.

2024 is an important year for India's democracy, with nearly 960 million voters gearing up to exercise their right to vote.

"In a world where the principles of democracy are constantly tested, India stands as a beacon of hope and resilience, showcasing the power of the people to shape their collective future," Jaishankar said.

SC directs AIIMS to set up board to examine NewsClick founder's health

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court directed the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) on Tuesday to set up a medical board to examine the health condition of Prabir Purkayastha, the founder of news portal NewsClick who is currently lodged in Tihar Jail in a case registered under the Unlawful Activities and Prevention Act.

The apex court passed the order after Purkayastha's lawyer Kapil Sibal pleaded that the health condition of the 74-year-old accused is deteriorating. "The only thing we want right now is that this court should call for medical report from the (Tihar) jail superintendent. The man is 74-year-old and is in great difficulty," Sibal submitted to the court.

A two-judge bench, headed by Justice BR Gavai and also comprising Justice Sandeep Mehta, asked the AIIMS director to constitute the board and submit a report to it in two weeks. "The board shall also consider the jail records and complete medical history of the petitioner," it said.

Sibal said the current medical report does not include the situation he is confronted with in jail. "We have no issues with an AIIMS evaluation. Jail record should also be sought," he said.

The bench noted that it has received the report of specialist medical officer in Central Jail Tihar. "It is submitted that the report does not show the true medical condition of the petitioner… It will be appropriate that the medical condition is examined by a board appointed by the AIIMS director," it said.

The FIR says the portal allegedly received funds from China to disrupt India's sovereignty .

NIA raids 16 locations in crackdown on Khalistanis

MUKESH RANJAN @New Delhi

IN a massive crackdown on Khalistani elements and their nexus with organised criminals, the National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Tuesday conducted multi-state raids covering 16 locations. Several suspects were held for examination of their involvement in terrorist activities.

"Extensive searches were conducted across 14 locations in Punjab and two in Rajasthan. The raids started in the morning in the districts of Amritsar, Bhatinda, Moga, Sangrur and Kapurthala in Punjab, and Churu and Hanumangarh in Rajasthan," said a senior NIA official, who added that the raids were conducted based on specific inputs.

According to the official, several persons were taken in for questioning. The raiding teams recovered a number of digital devices, mobile phones and incriminating documents, which are being examined by the agency sleuths.

The crackdown comes nearly two months after NIA director General Dinkar Gupta took up the issues related to active nexus between terror outfits with FBI Director Christopher A Wray, whom he met in December 2023. Gupta had then told Wray that organised criminal syndicates were also spreading in the US. He had also informed Wray about the ongoing probe in the attack on the Indian Consulate in San Francisco.

Breakthrough drug for treatment of multiple sclerosis launched in India

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

A breakthrough drug to treat multiple sclerosis, a long-lasting chronic disease of the central nervous system, has been launched in India.

Ocrevus, available in over 100 countries, is the first and only approved high-efficacy therapy with more than 3 lakh patients treated globally. The drug is a bi-annual, two-hour infusion regimen that promotes high adherence.

However, it costs between ₹10-12 lakh a year, depending on the dosage, in India. Multiple sclerosis, which is estimated to affect 1.5-2 lakh people in India, primarily women between the ages of 20-40 years, is a neurodegenerative disease.

Manufactured by Swiss pharma company Roche Pharma, the drug was first launched in the US in 2017. Announcing the India launch of the medicine, Asit Sabat, India enabling leader at Roche Pharma India, said that the economic impact of neurological disorders surpasses the combined burden of cardiovascular diseases, cancer and diabetes.

"This is poised for further expansion due to the aging of the population, leading to a subsequent rise in disability rates. Similar trends are expected in India," Sabat said, adding, "As the prevalence of neurological diseases continues to rise, it poses an escalating economic burden on our healthcare system. The direct and indirect costs, encompassing both medical expenses and lost productivity, are substantial and demand our immediate attention."

Dr Viraj Suvarna, chief medical officer at Roche Pharma India, said that multiple sclerosis is an unpredictable disease as it affects people differently. "Some may have mild symptoms, while others might lose their ability to see, write, and walk," he said.

Green Credit rules may damage forests, say experts

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

FOUR months after launching the Green Credit Programme, the Union government on Tuesday notified the methodology for calculating green credits for tree plantation activity. According to the new rules issued by the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, each "grown" tree will equate to one Green Credit.

The government promotes Green Credits as an innovative market-based mechanism aimed at incentivising voluntary environmental actions across various sectors.

The government had launched the Green Credit programme in October 2023 to encourage individuals, organisations, and industries to undertake diverse environment-positive actions to reduce carbon emissions, improve in air and water quality, and increase biodiversity. The move was part of India's ambition to achieve net zero emission by 2070 as per Paris Agreement.

In the Green Credit Rules 2024 published by the ministry, it asks the state forest departments to identify degraded land parcels (including open forests, scrub lands, wastelands and catchment areas) under their administrative control, which can be made available for tree plantation.

The rule further states that the state forest departments will provide green credit certificates to applicants, after evaluation and verification after completion of the tree plantation activity. The certificate will be a symbol of environmental, social and governance leadership indicators.

However, experts see the rules as damaging to forest ecology as it can be easily manipulated in favour of business conglomerates or interested parties to suit their interests. Experts see the rule as unscientific and as disastrous for the forest ecology.

"The term degraded forest is of critical importance. However, there is no rule or law that describes a degraded forest," said Debadityo Sinha, an expert on environmental laws. "In that scenario any and every forest can be a degraded forest," Sinha further said.

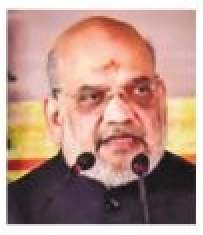
DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has worked towards breaking language barriers and ending linguistic inferiority from the minds of children and instilling a sense of pride among people for their language, culture, and religion.



"In the past, when leaders who used to talk about patriotism went on a foreign tour, they spoke in English, but Prime Minister Narendra Modi gave a speech in Hindi on the global stage, such as the G-20. And the entire globe heard Narendra Modi deliver a speech in Hindi," Shah said addressing the opening ceremony of the Swaminarayan Institute of Medical Sciences and Research of Sri Swaminarayan Vishwamangal Gurukul in Kalol, Gandhinagar.

"Prime Minister Narendra Modi encouraged teaching in Indian languages. The Modi government has made it feasible to study science in Gujarati and become a doctor after completing the course. Prime Minister Modi has handled the challenge of eradicating language impediments from children's minds," he added.

For the first time, the youth of the country are confident that India will be on top of the world in 2047 when it completes its centenary year of independence, Shah said, adding there will be a queue then to get a visa to come to India.

"A magnificent era is emerging; Prime Minister Modi is committed to developing India during the next ten years, and in 2047 there will be a queue to get a visa to come to India."

Speaking about the Ayodhya temple, Shah stated, "The PM not only erected the Ram Temple but also the Kashi Vishwanath Corridor."

Seat-sharing deal among INDIA allies soon: NC

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

NATIONAL Conference president and three-time ex-Jammu and Kashmir Chief Minister Farooq Abdullah and his son Omar Abdullah are hopeful of seat-sharing pact with INDIA alliance after second round of NC-Congress talks.

"There is no doubt about our alliance with Congress. Omar Abdullah is talking to them and I am hopeful that in the next few days, the decisions will be taken. We will unitedly contest the polls," Abdullah told reporters in Srinagar.

The INDIA alliance parties in J&K – NC, Congress and PDP – are vying for six parliamentary seats in J&K and Ladakh UT. While J&K has five LS seats, Ladakh has one seat.

"There has been one round of discussion in Delhi. There were certain proposals that were put forth by the Congress, which required to be discussed within NC. One of the proposals has not found acceptance from NC. We will have a second round of discussion," NC vice president and ex-J&K CM Omar Abdullah said.

He said INDIA alliance has only six seats including one in Ladakh. "Three seats are anyway held by NC, so essentially we are only discussing three seats – two Jammu seats and one Ladakh," Omar said.

FIR lodged before plaint, ex-MLA of CPM gets bail

Nirapada Sardar arrested for 'instigating unrest' in Sandeshkhali

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE state administration received another blow in the Calcutta High Court as a division bench on Tuesday granted bail to former CPI(M) MLA of Sandeshkhali Nirapada Sardar, expressing surprise that the FIR against the legislator was lodged before police received the complaint.

Sardar was arrested on the charges of instigating unrest in TMC's stronghold Sandeshkhali. The court, while granting the bail, described the police action as shocking and questioned, "Who would compensate a citizen who has been arrested for so long?"

Meanwhile, BJP-led Chhattisgarh chief minister Vishnu Deo Sai on Tuesday wrote a letter to West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee saying "putting tribals' lives in danger for appeasement and vote bank politics is beyond tolerance".

In his letter Chhattisgarh CM highlighted atrocities on the tribals in the North 24 Parganas island. He requested Mamata to rise above political considerations and take decisions for the interest of humanity.

The former legislator, who served as Sandeshkhali MLA from 2011 to 2016, was arrested on February 11 from his rented house in south Kolkata on the basis of a complaint by local TMC leader Sibaprasad Hazra's close friend Bhanu Mondal on February 10. The division bench expressed its surprise when it was found that the FIR mentioning Sardar's name was lodged on February 9, before police received the complaint.

Hazra, a close associate of fugitive TMC strongman Shahjahan Sheikh, is presently behind the bars facing charges of gangrape and attempt to murder in Sandeshkhali. Shahjahan is at large since the attack on ED officers on January 5.

When asked about the botched-up FIR, the public prosecutor failed to come up with an explanation. The court also asked the superintendent of police to submit a report.

Raj row erupts as Raje aide leaves key poll meeting

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

IN Rajasthan, a vital meeting to prepare for the upcoming Lok Sabha elections in Ajmer has once again revealed the deep rift within the ruling BJP. A senior woman MLA Anita Bhadel, considered a key Vasundhara Raje loyalist, suddenly stormed out of the election meeting which was presided by deputy Chief Minister Diya Kumari.

Former CM Vasundhara and Diya have been at loggerheads for years and Badhel allegedly moved away from the meeting claiming that if people from the rival camp, who opposed her during the recent assembly elections, are involved in this meeting, there is no point in attending.

For years the BJP has been a divided house in Rajasthan and Badhel who was a cabinet minister in the earlier Raje government, is also said to be upset at not being made a minister in the current Bhajanlal government.

Bhadel, a seasoned five-time MLA known for her allegiance to Vasundhara Raje, remained resolute, exiting meeting with a determination to address the party organization directly.

2 Cong MLAs, 1 from RJD walk out of Oppn bench to join BJP in Bihar

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

IN a major jolt to opposition grand alliance in Bihar, two Congress MLAs and one MLA from RJD switched sides and sat in the treasury benches during budget session of the ongoing Bihar assembly on Tuesday.

The MLAs Murari Prasad Gautam and Siddharth Saurav (both Congress) and Sangita Kumari (RJD) were earlier seen entering the assembly behind deputy chief minister Samrat Choudhary, who is also state BJP president of BJP. They sat on the ruling side, upon being signalled by Choudhary to do so, and legislators of the ruling NDA thumped their desks in approval.

The episode comes about a fortnight after three RJD MLAs deserted the party on a day its senior and former Speaker Awadh Bihari Choudhary got voted out in no-confidence motion, and new government headed by JD(U) chief Nitish Kumar, with BJP as an ally, won the trust vote. Gautam was a minister in previous grand alliance government.

While Gautam represents Chenari assembly constituency, Siddharth is an MLA from Vikram. Sangita represents Mohania assembly seat in the state assembly.

Sangita openly admitted that she joined BJP when reporters approached her for her comments outside the Bihar assembly. However, Gautam and Siddharth remained evasive in their replies to media queries.

Earlier, three RJD MLAs—Neelam Devi (Mokama), Chetan Anand (Sheohar), and Prahlad Yadav (Lakhisarai)--had voted in favour of ruling NDA government led by chief minister Nitish Kumar on February 12, leaving leader of opposition and RJD leader Tejashwi Prasad Yadav in a state of shock.

The development came when RJD leader and former deputy chief minister Tejashwi Prasad Yadav is on his 'Jan Vishwas Yatra' across the state. Sources said that the three MLAs changed sides on the persuasion of deputy chief minister and BJP state president Samrat Choudhary.

Meanwhile, Congress legislator party leader Shakeel Ahmad Khan said that both the Congress MLAs would be expelled from the party.

Calling them 'traitors', Khan said that people of their respective assembly constituencies would teach them a lesson in the polls. "These MLAs prospered in the Congress party but now they are heaping praise on a different party," he remarked.

The development assumed significance in the wake of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Bihar's Aurangabad and Begusarai on March 2.

Shinde forms Maha SIT to probe quota leader's 7-month-old stir, funding

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER Maharashtra BJP MLA Ashish Shelar's demand, Maharashtra Legislative Assembly Speaker Rahul Narwekar directed the state government on Tuesday to form a Special Investigation Team (SIT) to probe the seven-month Maratha protest led by activist Manoj Jarange-Patil and the allegations against Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis.

Shelar, speaking on the House floor, called for the establishment of the SIT to investigate the agitation led by Maratha quota leader Manoj Jarange-Patil. He raised questions about the mastermind behind the agitation, its escalation, the source of projectiles, Jarange Patil's associations, and the political affiliations involved. Shelar emphasized the need for a thorough investigation, stating, "Everything needs to be investigated, and an SIT needs to be formed."

He further criticized Jarange Patil's language, accusing him of insulting Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis and issuing threats to high-ranking officials. Shelar urged for an inquiry into the individuals backing Jarange Patil.

Responding to Shelar's demand, Narwekar initiated the probe. Maharashtra Home Minister Devendra Fadnavis expressed his disinterest in discussing Manoj Jarange-Patil but emphasized the necessity of investigating abusive language directed towards him.

He highlighted the need for an investigation into the violence in Beed and the establishment of war rooms in Sambhajinagar and Navi Mumbai, suggesting a conspiracy behind the Beed violence.

CM Ekanth Shinde defended Fadnavis, accusing Patil of deliberately targeting him . He asserted that Patil's language was political rather than activist-driven and called for an investigation.

While presenting the budget, the state's Finance Minister, Dr. Prem Chand Agarwal, said, "This budget is for overall development. It is a balanced budget for the development of Uttarakhand." In the budget of 89,230 crore by the Dhami government, the expenditure for revenue receipts is 55,815.77 crore and for capital receipts is 33,414.30 crore.

The revenue deficit is not estimated yet. This time, there has been a 15 per cent increase in the budget. The Finance Minister described the budget as focused on overall development, which aims to strengthen the direction of Uttarakhand.

During his address to the House, Finance Minister Prem Chand Agarwal disclosed that a budgetary allocation of ₹10 crore has been designated to enhance the educational standards within the state's degree colleges, facilitating free education for over 94 thousand children through RTE initiative.

A separate provision of ₹10 crore has been earmarked for scholarships to support emerging athletes, with a sum of ₹250 crore allocated for the upcoming national games. The Finance Minister said that the highest budget allocation of 11,244 crores is for education, sports, youth welfare, and culture.

House truth: ₹20K for a ₹20 coin to celebrate 20 yrs of Vibrant Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

THE Gujarat government allocated ₹20,405 to construct frames for each of the 136 ₹20 coins, amounting to ₹27.28 lakhs to commemorate 20 years of Vibrant Gujarat Global Summit.

During a session in the Gujarat Assembly, Congress MLA Tushar Chowdhury queried about the release and cost of the commemorative ₹20 coins.

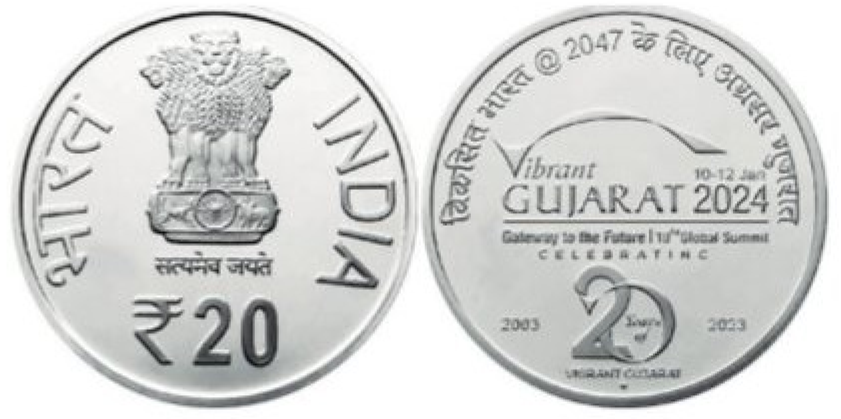
In response, Gujarat Industries Minister Balwantsinh Rajput revealed that each coin frame cost ₹20,405, resulting in a total expenditure of ₹27,75,125.

Congress MLA Tushar Chaudhary questioned the government whether a proposal was made to the Reserve Bank of India to produce these coins.

In response, the government stated that the coin proposal was not forwarded to the Reserve Bank of India, but rather to the Division of Currency and Coinage, Department of Economic Affairs, Ministry of Finance.

In response to another question from Congress Porbandar MLA Arjun Modhwadia about the Vibrant Summit, the government admitted that as of January end, none of the 35 summit partner countries including the UAE, Australia, Japan, and the United Kingdom had signed any Memorandum Of Understanding (MOU) with the state government.

In response to another query regarding the expenses incurred on the Vibrant Summit, the government declined to disclose exact figures, citing pending finalisation of invoices. Thus, the true expenditure remains a mystery.



'Proposal not forwarded to RBI'

Congress MLA Tushar Chaudhary questioned the government whether a proposal was made to the Reserve Bank of India to produce these coins. In response, the government stated that the coin proposal was not forwarded to the RBI, but to the Division of Currency and Coinage, Department of Economic Affairs, Ministry of Finance.

PAK EC HOLDS OPEN HEARING OF SIC'S PLEA ON RESERVED SEATS ALLOCATION

Candidates of PTI fought as independents after party could not directly participate in Feb 8 polls due to the non-allotment of its electoral symbol — the cricket bat

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Election Commission on Tuesday held an open hearing on a petition by jailed former prime minister Imran Khan's party-backed Sunni Ittehad Council seeking the allocation of its share of reserved seats, according to a media report. Candidates of 71-year-old Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) fought as independents after the party could not directly participate in the February 8 elections due to the non-allotment of its iconic electoral symbol – the cricket bat.

To receive the PTI's share of reserved seats for women and minorities in the national and provincial assemblies, the winning independent candidates backed by the party joined the rightwing Sunni Ittehad Council (SIC) -- an alliance of Islamic political and religious parties in the Muslim-majority country which represents followers of the school of Sunni Islam. In total, 266 National Assembly seats were up for grabs out of the 336. Another 60 seats are reserved for women and 10 for minorities and are allotted to the winning parties based on proportional representation.

A five-member bench of the Election Commission of Pakistan on Monday held an open hearing on the SIC's plea seeking allocation of reserved seats, and the counter-pleas filed against it, the Dawn newspaper reported. The bench, headed by Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Sikandar Sultan Raja, heard petitions by Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz's Azam Nazeer Tarar, Pakistan Peoples Party's Farooq Naik and PTI-backed SIC's counsel Gohar Khan and Ali Zafar, before adjourning the hearing till Wednesday.

During the hearing, Barrister Zafar said the PTI had approached the ECP to claim the reserved seats, and if the political parties wanted to take the seats, they should come as political parties and claim them openly, Geo News reported.

The PML-N party's Tarar argued that since the SIC did not win a single seat in the elections, how could it be given reserved seats by gathering independent candidates? The PTI-backed independent candidates entered the Parliament through a party rejected by the masses, Tarar said.

The top electoral body adjourned the hearing on the pleas till Wednesday, the report said. The PTI-backed independents won majority seats at the National Assembly in the February 8 general election. However, the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz and the Pakistan Peoples Party have agreed on a power-sharing deal to form a new coalition government, which may effectively end Khan's chances of returning to power. PTI

PTI would stage countrywide protests against the "rigging" in polls alongside other political parties, he was quoted as saying by Geo News. PTI

Jailed Imran Khan and wife indicted in 190 mn pounds corruption case

ISLAMABAD

AN ACCOUNTABILITY court in Pakistan on Tuesday indicted Imran Khan and his wife Bushra Bibi in the 190 million pounds Al Qadir corruption case, in another blow to the beleaguered former prime minister who is currently in jail after being convicted in multiple cases.

Judge Nasir Javed Rana, who replaced Judge Mohammad Bashir as he is retiring in a few weeks, conducted the hearing at Rawalpindi's high-security Adiala jail where the 71-year-old Pakistan-Tehreek-Insaf founder is incarcerated in graft cases as well as the Cipher leak case. The Al-Qadir Trust case pertains to the settlement of 190 million pounds, which the UK's National Crime Agency sent to Pakistan after recovering the amount from Pakistani property tycoon Malik Riaz Hussain. Khan and his wife Bushra, who were brought before the court, pleaded not guilty after the judge read the chargesheet in their presence. Khan was arrested in the same case from the premises of the Islamabad High Court on May 9, 2023.

During the hearing on Tuesday, the court said that statements of 58 witnesses will be recorded in the case, Geo News reported. Both Khan and his wife denied the charges against them. The hearing was adjourned till March 6 and the court also ordered five witnesses of NAB to attend the hearing. PTI

Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf dubs Maryam Nawaz as 'fake CM' of Punjab

Lahore: Pakistan's jailed former prime minister Imran Khan's party on Tuesday dubbed Maryam Nawaz as the 'fake chief minister' of Punjab province as she has been selected by the 'mandate thieves' after the February 8 polls. Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf spokesperson Raoof Hasan in a statement said the "Calibri Queen" (Maryam) suffered a efeat at the hands of the people in the general polls but ironically, she was imposed on the people of Punjab after she was fraudulently selected through the votes of the fake representatives of the fake House.

Zelenskyy lands in Saudi Arabia to push for peace

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy arriving in Saudi Arabia to promote his peace plan and discuss potential prisoners of war exchanges | AFP

UKRAINIAN President Volodomyr Zelenskyy arrived in Saudi Arabia on Tuesday with plans to visit the kingdom's powerful crown prince to push for a peace plan and the return of prisoners of war from Russia.

Zelenskyy's trip comes as Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed Bin Salman has sought to position himself as a potential mediator to end the war between Ukraine and Russia ' even as Riyadh remains closely aligned with Russia on energy policies through the OPEC+ group of countries.

In message on X, Zelenskyy said that Ukraine continued to 'rely on Saudi Arabia's ongoing active support' in pushing forward with what has been described as a 'Peace Formula' to end the full-scale invasion, which marked its second anniversary over the weekend.

Zelenskyy has presented a 10-point peace formula that, among other things, seeks the expulsion of all Russian forces from Ukraine and accountability for war crimes at a time when the two sides are fighting from largely static positions along a roughly 1,500-km (930-mile) front line. Such ideas are rejected out of hand by Moscow. 'The second topic is the return of POWs and deportees,' Zelenskyy wrote. 'The kingdom's leadership has already contributed to the release of our people. I am confident that this meeting will also yield results.'

The state-run Saudi Press Agency said that Zelenskky arrived at Riyadh's King Khalid International Airport and was met by government officials. Over the last several years, Crown Prince Mohammed over the last several years has reached a detente with Iran, pursued a peace deal with Yemen's Houthi rebels and also offered himself as a leader in other crises worldwide. AP

Vi to raise ₹45K cr via equity, debt

Co says it has authorised management to appoint intermediaries, including bankers and counsels, to execute the fundraise

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

VODAFONE IDEA LIMITED (VIL), the country's third-largest telecom service provider, on Tuesday announced its plans to raise funds worth nearly ₹45,000 crore through a combination of equity and debt.

The company will raise ₹20,000 crore via a combination of equity and/or equity-linked instruments. The fund will be utilised to expand its 4G network and rollout 5G network in the country, and to be in competition.

"Through a combination of equity and debt, the company plans to raise nearly ₹45,000 crore," said the company in an exchange filing.

The company, in an exchange filing, said it has also authorised the management to appoint various intermediaries, including bankers and counsels, to execute the fundraise. The telco will convene a meeting of its shareholders on April 2, 2024, and expects to complete the equity fundraise in the coming quarter post-shareholder approval.

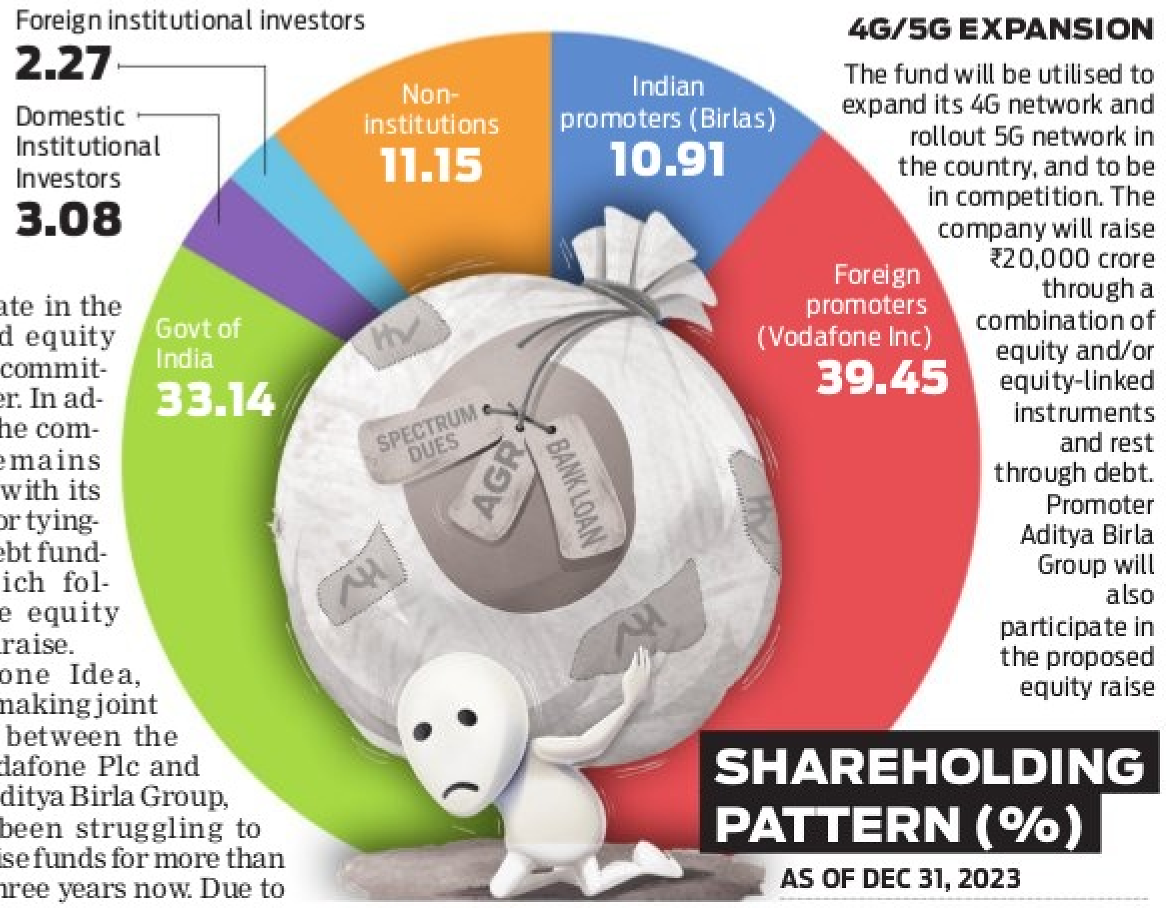
The telco also said promoter (Aditya Birla Group) will also participate in the proposed equity raise, as committed earlier. In addition, the company remains engaged with its lenders for tying-up the debt funding, which follows the equity will fundraise.

Vodafone Idea, the loss-making joint venture between the UK's Vodafone Plc and India's Aditya Birla Group, has been struggling to raise funds for more than three years now. Due to the lack of capital, the company has been unable to stem its subscriber losses to its competitors, Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel, and roll out its 5G services in the country. Its gross subscriber base shrank to 223.05 million at the end of December. According to the December quarter results, Vi's net debt widened to ₹2.14 lakh crore, while cash equivalents were at ₹318.9 crore.

However, Vi's dues to banks and other lenders have decreased by ₹7,140 crore to ₹6,050 crore between Q3FY23 and Q3 FY24. The company stated that its bank debt currently stood at less than ₹4,500 crore.

"The fund will enable the company to make investments towards significant expansion of 4G coverage, 5G network rollout and capacity expansion. It will also improve its competitive positioning and offer an even better customer experience," said the company.

"We believe these investments will enable the company to improve its competitive positioning in telecom sector and offer an even better customer experience and gain market share," said Prashanth Tapse, Sr VP Research analyst at Mehta equities ltd.



4G/5G EXPANSION

The fund will be utilised to expand its 4G network and rollout 5G network in the country, and to be in competition. The company will raise ₹20,000 crore through a combination of equity and/or equity-linked instruments and rest through debt. Promoter Aditya Birla Group will also participate in the proposed equity raise

NCLT approves resolution plan of Hinduja for RCap

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on Tuesday approved the ₹9,650 crore resolution plan of IndusInd International Holdings Ltd (IIHL), a Hinduja Group entity, to acquire the bankrupt Reliance Capital Ltd. As per the tribunal, the resolution plan can be implemented within 90 days of receiving the approval.

"In continuation of our intimation vide our disclosure dated February 26, 2024, we hereby inform you that the NLCT, Mumbai, has orally pronounced an order dated February 27, 2024, approving the resolution plan submitted by IndusInd International Holdings with respect to the corporate insolvency resolution process of the company under section 31 of the IBC," Reliance Capital said in a regulatory filing on Tuesday.

The RBI in November 2021 had superseded the board of Reliance Capital on governance issues and payment defaults by the company. The central bank had appointed Nageswara Rao Y as the administrator, who invited bids in February 2022 for the company to have a new owner.

Reliance Capital, which had a debt of over ₹40,000 crore, initially received bids with resolution plans from four applicants -- Torrent Investments, IIHL, Cosmea Financial-Piramal Group and Oaktree Capital. However, the committee of creditors (CoC) rejected all four plans for lower bid values and a challenge mechanism was initiated wherein IIHL and Ahmedabad-based Torrent Investments participated.

In July 2023, IIHL, the promoter of private lender IndusInd Bank, placed a bid of ₹9,861 crore to acquire Reliance Capital, which was subsequently approved by the administrator. Hinduja's offer received an overwhelming support from creditors with 99% of them voting in favour. Reliance Capital's cash balance of an additional ₹500 crore would also go to the lenders.

Hinduja's bid and the insolvency process, however, are being challenged by Torrent Investments .

Banks will have to compete with Google, Apple, Meta: Kotak

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE banking sector will face competition from Google, Meta, Apple, and Amazon in future, says Uday Kotak, Founder & Director, Kotak Mahindra Bank.

Financial institutions of tomorrow will be technology-powered risk management companies that are customer centric, he predicted. "What will happen if Google is allowed a bank tomorrow," he asked while addressing the audience at a ceremony commemorating the 68th Foundation Day of All India Management Association (AIMA) on February 21.

He, therefore, asked the Indian banks and financial institutions wake up and shake up.

Talking about India moving towards capital convertibility and making Indian rupee a reserve currency, Kotak said that India can make its rupee a reserve currency provided it reaches a macroeconomic stability that allows the world to trust India with keeping others' money safe. "If we manage our fiscal and current account and establish institutional processes that others can trust, we would have the foundations for a reserve currency," he said

Kotak suggested that India could experiment with rupee's convertibility by opening a window of convertibility for both trade and investment in the GIFT City. "See how it goes and gradually make it easier for Indians to move the currency in and out," he said.

Kotak welcomed the introduction of the central bank digital currency (CBDC) by the RBI. He said it could be a big positive and change the way finance works in the country. He said banks will still be needed as intermediaries and for risk management, a role that they have been the heart of the financial services sector. Talking about crypto currencies, Kotak said he doesn't understand or like the cryptos, but he pointed out that cryptos are like gold and derive their value from a shared belief in their value despite there being no logic in it.

Byju's to go ahead with $200 mn rights issue as NCLT reserved judgement

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

EDTECH firm Byju's can now go ahead with the $200 million rights issue as the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on Tuesday reserved judgment on interim orders in the plea filed by four investors against the company.

According to sources, Byju's rights issue will continue as per plan. The NCLT heard the petition filed by four investors – Peak XV Partners, General Atlantic, Prosus and Sofina -- seeking an urgent order to stay the rights issue. However, the NCLT was not inclined to issue any order on Tuesday and that means the rights issue can proceed as planned and will close on Wednesday, the sources added.

The NCLT also observed Byju's board can't increase authorised share capital on its own and it directed that they can't complete the rights issue until they call for an EGM (extraordinary general meeting) to increase authorised capital and take shareholder approval before proceeding for rights issue.

Sources also said the edtech company has given an undertaking to the court that they will not use the proceeds of the rights issue until the authorisation has been secured. Earlier investors argued that the rights issue can't be allowed to proceed as it can't be done without increasing authorised capital.

Last month, the firm announced it will raise $200 million by way of a rights issue to achieve operational sustainability. With the fundraising, it will be valued between $220 million and $230 million, a whopping 99% drop from its valuation of $22 billion in 2022.

Byju's founder Byju Raveendran had said the funds raised will be utilised to clear immediate liabilities and meet operational requirements, while maintaining the current rights of our valued shareholders.

Investors filed an oppression and mismanagement suit against the management of the company in NCLT and to declare the rights issue as void. They sought reliefs that include directing the company to not take any corporate actions that will prejudice the rights of the investors.

Govt initiates many schemes for MSMEs: PM

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Madurai

EMPHASIZING the importance of "Zero Defect zero Effect" components production, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said MSMEs in India have a great opportunity to become a strong part of the global supply chain.

He was speaking at the special program "Creating the Future – Digital Mobility for Automotive MSME Entrepreneurs" held in Madurai. Ahead of the event, the PM launched two major initiatives designed to support and uplift MSMEs in the Indian automotive industry. The initiatives include the "TVS Open Mobility Platform" and the "TVS Mobility-CII Centre of Excellence". These initiatives support the growth of smaller MSMEs in the country.

TVS MOBILITY

While delivering his address at the event, PM Modi started his speech with a traditional greeting in Tamil "Vanakkam". He stated that Tamil Nadu has proved its mettle on the global stage when it comes to technology, especially in the automotive sector.

He expressed happiness at the theme of the event 'Creating the future - Digital Mobility for Automotive MSME Entrepreneurs' and congratulated TVS company for bringing together all the MSMEs and the aspirational youth on a single platform.

Pointing out the fact that about 7% of the country's GDP is from the automobile sector. The PM acknowledged the role of the automobile industry in promoting manufacturing and innovation. He added that MSMEs in the sector hold equal importance in the automobile industry. The global possibilities knocking on the doors as many cars in the world use components manufactured by the Indian MSMEs, thus our MSMEs have a great opportunity to become a strong part of the global supply chain", the Prime Minister said emphasizing the need to work on quality and durability.

India seeks solution to public stockholding issue at WTO; says food security real concern

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA on Tuesday made a strong argument to finalise the permanent solution to public stockholding (PSH) and deliver this outcome at 13th Ministerial Conference of World Trade Organization at Abu Dhabi.

At the WTO negotiation session on agriculture on February 27, India said a permanent solution is long overdue as the issue has been pending for 11 years.

India argued that the focus should not be narrowed down to the trade interests of exporting countries only, the real concern is the food security and livelihood of people. It emphasised that without a permanent solution on PSH, the most critical and long-pending mandated issue at the WTO, developing countries' fight against hunger can't be won.

India highlighted that the significance this issue was so high that more than 80 countries representing more than 61% of the world's population from the G33 group of countries, Africa, Caribbean and Pacific Group (ACP) and the African Groups have co-sponsored a proposal on this subject. Meanwhile, during the WTO negotiation session on fisheries subsidies, India reiterated its long-held positions that responsible and sustainable fisheries is a practice ingrained in the ethos and practices of India's large and varied fishing community.

In that context, any comprehensive agreement on fisheries subsidies should keep in mind the interests and welfare of the fishing community that depends on the marine resources for their livelihood and sustenance.

SRI LANKA

HIKES RETAIL FUEL PRICES BY ₹20

As part of its monthly revision, the Sri Lankan government increased retail fuel prices by ` 20 effective Monday. This is the first increase in retail fuel price after the imposition of new value-added tax rates. The increase in fuel prices came due to the new VAT rates. The country's VAT rate has been increased by 3% to 18% from Monday. Most items that were earlier exempted from VAT have been brought under 18% slab. The government changes fuel prices on a monthly basis after taking into account the exchange rate of the US dollar and the prices in the global oil market. The International Monetary Fund (IMF), last month, had authorised the release of the second tranche worth $337 million to the cash-strapped country, bringing the value of disbursements to $670 million as part of the four-year programme. The IMF programme meant that the government decided on cost-based tariffs for utilities, while multiple rate hikes on electricity consumption impacted the public. This is the first time that fuel has been placed under VAT. The government said it removed the 7.5% import levy on fuel to maintain the retail price at reasonable levels.

TAIWAN

JAN EXPORT ORDERS EDGES UP 1.9%

Amid robust demand for artificial intelligence applications, Taiwan's export orders beat expectations in January. The export outlook remains soft as high interest rates in major Western markets and geopolitical uncertainty weigh on demand. Export orders last month edged up 1.9% from a year earlier to $48.42 billion. Orders dropped 16% in December from a year earlier. Home to tech companies such as chip manufacturer TSMC, are a bellwether of global technology demand. It was also due to increased stockpiling before the week-long Lunar New Year break, it added, the most important holiday in the Chinese-speaking world. The economy ministry said it expects export orders in February to fall between 11% and 15.7% from a year earlier. The first part of the year is traditionally the low season for orders for Taiwan's high-tech goods. Weak demand for Taiwan's technology products amid global economic uncertainty saw the export-dependent economy grow at its slowest pace in 14 years in 2023. Weak demand for Taiwan's technology products amid global economic uncertainty saw the export-dependent economy grow at its slowest pace in 14 years in 2023. Taiwan's orders in January for telecommunication products slipped 19.3%, while electronic products gained 16.1% from the prior year, the ministry said.

JAPAN

INFLATION BEATS FORECASTS, NEGATIVE RATES MAY END

The core consumer inflation in Japan slowed for the third straight month in January but beat forecasts and held at the central bank's 2% target. It kept alive expectations that the central bank of the country will end negative interest rates by April. Internal affairs and communications ministry data showed on Tuesday, the 2.0% gain in the core consumer prices index (CPI) was slower than the 2.3% increase in December, which underscores views waning cost-push inflation from commodity imports could ease the pain of higher living costs. The gain beat median market forecasts for a 1.8% rise. It reaffirms the expectations that hefty pay hikes will be offered by big firms at labour-management wage talks on March 13 that would pave the way for the Bank of Japan (BOJ) to end negative interest rates in March or April. Japan's core consumer price index includes oil products but excludes fresh food prices. The higher prices of imported goods simply means that Japanese consumers don't buy, as the lack of economic growth has left shoppers less active. The focus has become increasingly intense on the spring labor negotiations, as higher wages are needed to keep people spending.

Fintech firms focus on compliance, simplification of KYC, lending norms

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

OVER 40 fintech companies including Razorpay and PhonePe in a meeting with finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Monday initiated various discussions including simplification and digitisation of KYC and lending norms reform, among others.

They said this initiative enables free exchange of ideas and this will facilitate growth in the sector. Talking about measures that fintech firms must take to ensure compliance with consumer protection laws and guidelines issued by the RBI, Rishi Agrawal, CEO and co-founder, Teamlease RegTech, said companies must remain apprised of the regulatory requirements to stay on top of their compliance obligations.

"They must stay on top of the Master Circulars and Master Directions issued by the RBI. Analysing the impact of RBI's directions will allow businesses to stay on top of their regulatory obligations. They must digitise internal processes to monitor deposits, lending, recovery and other business operations. These IT systems must be encoded to set employee conduct limits. When employees deviate from expected behaviour, these systems must raise flags," he said.

He added that risk flagging prevents unsafe and illegal transactions from being permitted without senior management clearance. Internal systems need stronger, risk-based lending policies to deter rule-breaking staff. Any fintech accepting deposits and lending is required to acquire the appropriate banking or non-banking licence from the RBI.

Though the meeting with the FM didn't discuss any specific case like Paytm Payments Bank, the focus is on compliance. "Companies must conduct compliance applicability assessments to determine the extent of regulations applicable to their business. They must keep track of circulars, directions, advisories, notices, orders issued by regulators like RBI, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs to stay updated with regulatory changes," added Agrawal.

Bhuvan Rustagi, co-founder and COO, Per Annum and Lendbox, said leveraging advanced technology for real-time document verification enhances the efficiency and accuracy of KYC processes.

Bengal govt deprived people of central schemes, says FM

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

FINANCE minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Tuesday highlighted the prevalence of corruption, poor law and order situation in West Bengal.

She stated that the ruling TMC government in West Bengal deprived its population of central government schemes like Ayushman Bharat. She also mentioned the government's inability to release funds under the MGNREGA scheme in view of fake job cardholders.

During the 'Vikshit Bharat and Eastern India', even at the National Library in Kolkata, she said the state's share in gross capital formation has declined to 2.9% from 6.7% in 2010. "State has taken no step to reverse this downfall," she added.

"A large part of the loan goes to service debt and pensions. Between FY18 and FY22, amount spent on interest payment, pensions and administrative expense accounted for 35% of the revenue expenditure," the minister added. She further stated that the state's annual per capita income has been lower than the national income for two full decades and it will take the next three to four years to bring it at par with the national average.

She also said that the state's share in industrial production was merely 3.5% in FY21 as against 24% in 1947.

She urged the corporate sector to boost private capital expenditure, stressing on the importance of their active involvement in India's economic growth journey.

She said global investors are increasingly placing their trust in India, recognising the country's promising prospects.

National trials: Anish makes it two out of two

Paris Olympic quota holder Anish Bhanwala made it two wins out of two in the national rifle/pistol selection trials, clinching the men's 25m rapid-fire pistol T4 trial in Bhopal on Tuesday. Anish (Haryana) posted 35-hits out of 40 in the final. Arjun Babuta won the men's 10m air rifle T3 trial with a score of 253.7 in the final. That matched Divyansh Singh Panwar's finals world record score.

ANOTHER JOLT FOR SPORT, AS HOCKEY INDIA CEO ELENA RESIGNS

Norman, who played a key role in bringing two World Cups to country, says she is stepping down due to 'challenging working environment' in recent times

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

ELENA Norman, Hockey India's long-standing CEO, resigned from her post on Tuesday morning. HI confirmed the development in a press release. "Long-serving CEO of Hockey India, Elena Norman on Tuesday resigned from her post after holding the position for nearly 13 years," it read.

Dilip Tirkey, HI's president, thanked Norman for her service. "I would like to express my gratitude for Elena's time and dedication," he was quoted as saying in the release. "Her dedication and efforts have played a pivotal role in propelling Hockey India and Indian hockey to the commendable position they hold today. I wish her great success in all her future endeavors." This development is highly significant for a number of reasons. Last week, HI, an increasingly beleaguered National Sports Federation (NSF), had to come to terms with the resignation of Janneke Schopman, the coach of the women's team. In an explosive interaction, Schopman had accused HI of preferential treatment. "I felt alone a lot in the last two years," she had said after India's Pro League encounter against the US last Sunday. "Because, I come from a culture where women are respected and valued. I don't feel that here. From not very many people – and I do feel people working here on the ground are amazing from Hockey India (HI) – but I feel it's so hard."

Norman, who played a prominent role in bringing two men's World Cups to India during her reign as CEO, stood out as a powerful woman administrator in a world dominated by men. After initially working as a marketing consultant with the International Hockey Federation (FIH) during the 2010 World Cup, she officially joined HI as the NSF's first-ever CEO in 2011.

Salary slashed, unpaid dues and difficult environment

While Norman had enjoyed a lot of power over the last decade or so, she found the working environment challenging in recent times. To cite one example, it's been reliably learnt that her salary had been cut by more than 50%. It's also understood that her remuneration had been withheld.

In an internal communique written by Tirkey to HI board members and accessed by this daily, the president wrote: "Despite my best efforts to persuade Elena to continue her invaluable contributions to our organisation, we cannot overlook the challenges she has faced, particularly issues surrounding unpaid dues and (an) increasingly difficult working environment," Tirkey wrote. "The decision for her departure is truly disappointing, as I firmly believe that Hockey India is losing a seasoned professional who has played a pivotal role in the growth and elevation of the sport's professional over the past 12 years." Norman did not respond to messages sent by this daily. That is true. Under Norman as CEO, HI, a nascent body when the Australian was first appointed to the post of CEO, the sport's profile grew in the country. The Hockey India League (HIL) came back amid much fanfare. Apart from the conduct of the two World Cups, India became the usual pincode for international men's events including the now defunct Champions Trophy and the World League final.

It was also under her watch that the women's team qualified for the Games in Rio, a first in 36 years. In 2011, when she had come on board, the men's team hadn't even taken part in the 2008 Games in Beijing. She leaves the federation with the team ideally placed to have successive podium finishes for the first time in more than four decades. In the press release, the body took cognisance of these achievements.

But there have been setbacks as well. The much acclaimed HIL ran into problems before it was disbanded (it's set to make a comeback at the end of this year). The running of the federation was also placed in the hands of Committee of Administrators (CoA) in 2022 thanks to a ruling by the Delhi High Court (for a month or so, the FIH had threatened to take the World Cup away from India before HI got it's house back in order). At some level, this resignation had been in the post for a while.

> Absolutely, it was getting tough to deliver in the fight between two factions. There are two factions in Hockey India. There is (President) Dilip Tirkey and I and there is (Secretary) Bholanath Singh, (Executive Director) Cdr. R K Srivastava and (Treasurer) Sekar J Manoharan. There are guys who want power and then there is (HI President) Dilip (Tirkey) who is a nice guy, only after betterment of Indian hockey. — Elena Norman

WHAT NEXT?

The men's team's preparations for the Olympics are unlikely to get affected. Their Paris route map is already set in store and it doesn't depend on what happens off the field. What, though, could be interesting is what happens within the federation. With Tirkey expected to get busy because of the upcoming Lok Sabha elections, will he have the time to look after the federation?

Historic show in Ranji as No 10, 11 crack tons

AGENCIES @ Mumbai

IT is rare for a pair involving numbers 10 and 11 to be hitting first-class tons and rarer to have them adding 200 or more runs for the 10th wicket, yet fall agonisingly close to breaking a record.

But for Mumbai's Tanush Kotian and Tushar Deshpande, who hit their maiden tons and put on a stunning 232-run stand for the last wicket, there was no disappointment in missing out on the record in Ranji Trophy by just one run during their quarterfinal against Baroda.

Kotian (120 not out) and Deshpande (123) pulverised the Baroda attack to enter record books here at the BKC Ground on Tuesday, but they narrowly missed overhauling the highest 10th-wicket stand between Ajay Sharma and Maninder Singh of 233 runs, for Delhi against Mumbai in the 1991-92 season.

"I am happy; I was unbeaten. I had told Tushar that only 1-2 runs are left, he took a chance but we felt we had done something (in terms of records) at Nos 10 and 11," Kotian told PTI in an exclusive chat, sounding totally content with what they had done on the field.

The pair got together on fourth evening with Mumbai already ahead by 373 runs and by the time Kotian and Deshpande were separated with the latter being dismissed, the lead had swollen to 605 runs overall.

Deshpande fell to Baroda bowler Ninad Rathva attempting a six after he had just hit one, but there was no disappointment in either of them.

"I did not say anything to him (to Tushar) for those 1-2 runs, whatever we did was good. We had actually opened up after getting to 100s and after he hit one for a six, he went for a shot again but got a top edge which resulted in a catch at deep midwicket," Kotian recalled. Kotian said the aim was to out-bat Baroda from the contest.

IYER NAMED IN MUMBAI SQUAD

MUMBAI: Middle-order batter Shreyas Iyer was on Tuesday named in Mumbai's 16-member squad for the semifinal against Tamil Nadu starting on March 2. Mumbai qualified for the semifinals after their quarterfinal clash against Baroda ended in a draw at the BKC Ground, with the 41-time champions making it to the final four on the basis of first-innings lead.

BRIEF SCORES: Vidarbha 460 & 196 bt Karnataka 286 & 243 in 62.4 ovs (Samarth 40, Mayank 70, Aneesh KV 40; Dubey 4/65, Sarwate 4/78) by 128 runs.

VIDARBHA CRUSH KARNATAKA BY 128 RUNS

NAGPUR: Vidarbha completed a 128-run hammering of Karnataka to cruise to the Ranji Trophy semifinal, riding on splendid four-wicket hauls by Harsh Dubey and Aditya Sarwate here on Tuesday. It was a memorable victory for the hosts here at the VCA Stadium at Civil Lines as Vidarbha came from behind on the final day to stop Karnataka in their tracks with a flurry of wickets. Chasing a massive 371 for victory, Karnataka had laid the foundation when they closed at 103 for one at stumps on the fourth day, but a spectacular batting collapse on the fifth day morning undid all their hardwork. With 268 more required to win and nine wickets in hand, Karnataka would have backed themselves to cross the line but Dubey and Sarwate ran through their batting line-up to deliver a massive result Vidarbha.

Brief scores: Vidarbha 460 & 196 bt Karnataka 286 & 243 in 62.4 ovs (Samarth 40, Mayank 70, Aneesh KV 40; Dubey 4/65, Sarwate 4/78) by 128 runs.

Simply unstoppable: India's dominant home run

GOMESH S @ Ranchi

DECEMBER 17, 2012 might not be a date registered in every Indian cricket fan's memory. After all, it was the last day of a dull draw in a Test match between India and England. However, that date holds a lot more significance now. It was the last time India had suffered a Test series defeat at home.

Yes, it has been 11 years, two months and 11 days — or 4090 days — since India lost a Test series at home. To put this number into context, among the nine teams taking part in the World Test Championship 2023-25, New Zealand comes the closest to India. The Black Caps' last home Test series defeat came in 2017. England lost in 2022, Australia in 2021 and South Africa in 2019. Even the ten consecutive home Test series wins by the invincible Australians of 1994-2000 and 2004-2008 does not come close to the 17 victories India have etched in this period.

What would you call a team that has such a record? What is the adjective to express the dominance against every team that has turned up on the India shores? Invincible? No. India have not been invincible and there are obviously more tangible factors involved. Yes, conditions play a part. There have been series where teams were welcomed with the ball turning square on Day One. In 2021, too, India resorted to such pitches after losing to England in the first Test.

This time, in the ongoing series against England which India have sealed 3-1, pitches have remained a constant talking point. However, that is not to say that this series has been played on rank turners. Even England captain Ben Stokes admitted as much after the Ranchi loss. "I think all four wickets have been really, really good Test match wickets. So, no complaints whatsoever about any pitches that have been produced," Stokes said. Which brings the question back to how did this Indian team that did not have certified stars like Virat Kohli or Mohammed Shami, that lost KL Rahul due to injury, that missed Ravindra Jadeja for a match, that lost the first Test and let England take 1-0 lead, came to Visakhapatnam and turned a new leaf to win three on the trot? When they sealed the series in Ranchi, the Test cap ratio between England and India's playing XIs was 2.27.

Invincible is just too simple a term to define what India have achieved in this series. First up, they were caught off guard in Hyderabad. They needed the genius of Jasprit Bumrah and Yashasvi Jaiswal in Visakhapatnam. And even in Rajkot, after two days, it seemed like England were in a better position to take a 2-1 lead. But here is the thing with all those sessions and phases of dominance by the visiting team — where it might seem like India are losing their plot. Every time they were in such a situation, there was one person who knew what to do and take up the job. Mohammed Siraj's reverse swing followed by Jaiswal's double in Rajkot. And then, R Ashwin, who had left for a personal emergency, came back and contributed to the team's win. At Ranchi, on a pitch that seemed like evil, but played out without many demons in it, Dhruv Jurel and Kuldeep Yadav played with purpose before the genius of Ashwin came to the fore. Rohit Sharma and India have found solutions during such testing moments.

These are elite athletes who are very much aware of the dominance their team possesses at home. And having played a part in it, they know how much it means and what they need to do to prolong the legacy. Their desire to contribute and the high they get from a Test series win is almost addictive. Jurel, who missed his first Test hundred, did not blink twice before saying, "I want to lift the trophy first." There is a tradition of debutants lifting the trophy. And these athletes are more skilled in these conditions than anyone visiting. They can adapt on the go, like Ashwin did in Ranchi, and still continue to outplay opponents without even giving them a chance.

More than anything else, they are also aware of what is at stake. The last time they lost a series at home, there were calls for a captaincy change. "…if you win at home, not a lot is spoken about, 'oh no India is supposed to win at home'. If you don't, then I know what happens as well but yeah…clearly every series win, whichever team you play against, whenever you play, Test series win is a Test series win no matter the conditions or the country you play in," Rohit would say before explaining why this one was sweeter because of the youngsters.

There is still one more game to go in Dharamsala, and there is a chance that England might actually win. No one is denying that India cannot lose a Test match at home. However, what one can say for sure is that no team is coming to India and beating them over a course of a three or more Test match series. And if any team manages to do that in this decade, that would go down as one of the greatest achievements of this century.

Punjab FC take down Hyderabad FC

AGENCIES @ Hyderabad

Action from the match between Punjab FC & Hyderabad FC on Tuesday | ISL

PUNJAB FC defeated Hyderabad FC by 2-0 at the Gachibowli Stadium in the Indian Super League on Tuesday. The team thus secured their third win in four games since the resumption of the season late last month, jumping to the 10th spot in the table.

As has been the norm throughout this campaign, the duo of Madih Talal and Luka Majcen pulled the league debutants past the finishing line, assisting each other's goals whilst the visitors worked diligently to secure a clean sheet.

Interestingly, Hyderabad FC was pretty much involved in the proceedings in either halves, coming touchingly close to breaking the deadlock multiple times, primarily thanks to Makan Chothe. Chothe had taken the shot that deflected off that produced Hyderabad FC's first goal after five games in their clash against Bengaluru FC in their previous match. However, Punjab FC goalkeeper Ravi Kumar, who made two saves on Tuesday, held his line to help his side from conceding any goal in this away clash.

Contrastingly, Punjab FC optimised the limited chances they created, with Talal and Majcen leading the charge.

Bajrang, Sakshi & Vinesh get special invite for trials

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

A COUPLE of weeks ago when the United World Wrestling (UWW) lifted its suspension on the Wrestling Federation of India, it asked the WFI to provide written guarantees that there would be no discrimination against any wrestlers. The world body specifically mentioned that the three athletes who protested against the former WFI chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh alleging him of sexual harassment, should not be discriminated against.

Abiding by the instructions given by the UWW, the WFI on Tuesday sent special invitations to five wrestlers including Bajrang Punia, Sakshi Malik and Vinesh Phogat for the selection trials scheduled at KD Jadhav Wrestling Indoor Stadium, IGI Sports Complex, New Delhi on March 10 and 11.

The trio were the face of the protest that rocked the sport last year. Apart from them, Ravi Dahiya and Deepak Punia were also given special invitations for the trials. "We have mailed the invitation to these wrestlers today (Tuesday), Sanjay Kumar Singh, WFI president, told this daily. "I request them to leave aside differences and come forward for trials so that they can win laurels for the country as they did in the past. I have mailed them personally as well and waiting for their reply. I will also send them the invite on WhatsApp and if they don't respond in the next 24 hours, I will call them as well. We want wrestling to resume as the Paris Olympics are around the corner," added Sanjay Singh.

The WFI also copied the mail to the secretary sports, Director General of the Sports Authority of India (SAI) and UWW. Notably, the WFI also released the list of wrestlers, including medallists from two nationals — one each in Pune and Jaipur — who can compete in the trials. The trio was included in the list with Bajrang listed in freestyle 65kg, Vinesh and Sakshi in women's wrestling 55kg and 62kg. It should be noted that Sakshi announced her retirement from the sport a few hours after Sanjay Singh was elected as the WFI president in December.

The trials in 17 Olympic weight categories except 53kg in women's wrestling will be held on the first day followed by trials in other 13 weight categories the next day. Winners of these trials will be eligible to participate in the Senior Asian Championships and Asian Olympic Games Qualifier. As Antim Phogat had already won an Olympic quota in 53kg, she can compete in the same weight category trials on the second day if she wishes to compete at the Asian Championships. The continental event is scheduled in Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan from April 11 to 16 while the Olympic Qualifier is in the same city from April 19 to 21.

This daily tried to reach Bajrang but he remained incommunicado. Meanwhile, Sakshi posted a message on 'X' on Tuesday expressing apprehension that women wrestlers especially from Haryana will again be subjected to sexual harassment.

Gujarat's Krishnamurthy in hunt for hometown glory

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

THERE is an air of familiarity for Veda Krishnamurthy in the second edition of the Women's Premier League. Not just because she is back doing what she always loved, playing cricket, but because of the venue, M Chinnaswamy Stadium in Bengaluru, which the Karnataka batter can proudly call her home ground. "I couldn't have asked for anything better than having camp and then matches in Bengaluru," the Gujarat Giants batter told this daily.

"It has been a while since I have played this level of cricket. I have been playing domestic cricket for the last four years And now coming back to Chinnaswamy is making me ease into things. The fact that I know many people around makes me feel good," she added.

Krishnamurthy's last fixture for India came back in 2020 in the T20 World Cup final. Since then she has toiled hard in domestic cricket for Karnataka, even taking the young side to two back-to-back finals of the Women's Senior One Day Trophy. However, none of that led to her getting a place in the WPL side. "It was heartbreaking for me that I was not able to be part of the tournament in the last season. It didn't sit well with me. It took me a while to come out of it," she admitted.

However, she found a way to remain close to the game when she got the opportunity to be part of the broadcasting team for the inaugural season. "I wanted to commentate because I didn't want to sit at home and sulk over it." When it came to the mini-auction ahead of the second edition, Krishnamurthy had her fingers crossed hoping to get the chance to be part of the league. And that golden ticket came when Gujarat picked her for Rs 30 Lakh.

The season has not started the way Gujarat would have wanted, but she has her plans "Whatever I can contribute in whichever way I can is going to be primary for me," she said. There is still plenty of time to turn things around for Gujarat and Krishnamurthy would want to contribute to that cause.

Bangalore beat Gujarat

A clinical all-round show helped Royal Challengers Bangalore beat Gujarat Giants by eight wickets on Tuesday. Opting to field, RCB restricted Gujarat to a lowly 107 for 7 and then overhauled the target with ease, scoring 110 for 2 in 12.3 overs at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium.

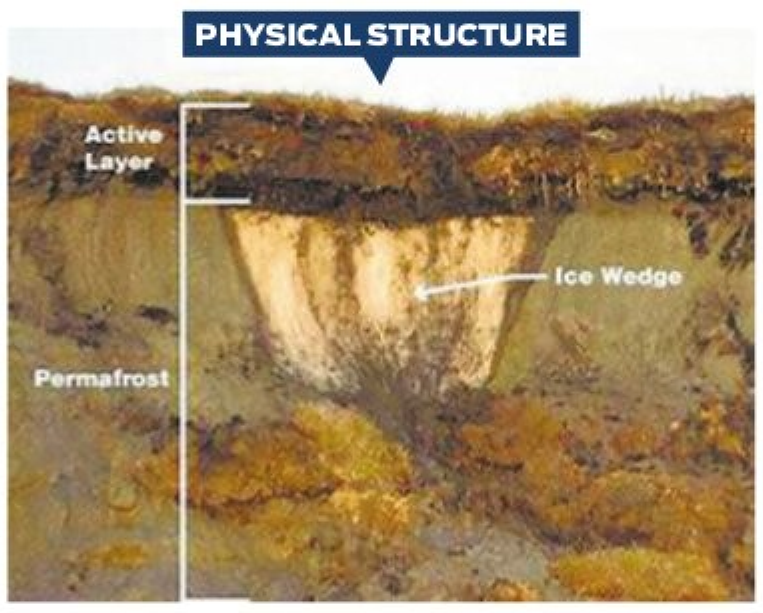
THE THREAT OF ZOMBIE VIRUSES FROM ARCTIC PERMAFROST LOOMS UNDER SHEETS OF ICE

PHYSICAL STRUCTURE



MELTING LAYER

The layers of crust reveal themselves as the permafrost thaws, owing to changing climate

ARSHITHA RAJ

CLIMATE change has long been linked to the rise of new health risks, particularly the spread of tropical diseases in temperate regions like Western Europe. However, recent scientific attention has shifted to another potential threat originating from the far north, where millennia-old microbes could be unleashed due to the rapid thawing of Arctic Siberian permafrost. Covering a staggering 25% of the Northern Hemisphere, permafrost serves as a frozen time capsule, preserving remnants of prehistoric life, including long-forgotten microbes.

Exploration into the microbial composition of Arctic permafrost began decades ago, with discoveries revealing the presence of bacteria in 1912. Yet, it wasn't until the latter half of the 20th century that the significance of these microbial communities began to emerge, largely due to geopolitical tensions and language barriers. Permafrost, a term coined by American geologist and palaeontologist Siemon W Muller in 1943, refers to frozen soil layers found in high-altitude and high-latitude areas. These layers contain a rich mix of decomposing organic matter and diverse microorganisms, offering ideal conditions for preserving cellular structures and DNA. Hidden beneath layers of frozen soil, these microbes remain protected in an environment devoid of UV light, oxygen and extreme pH levels, which would obliterate such microorganisms.

Below the active layer, where water is absent, metabolic activities cease, killing off most microbes. However, some organisms can enter a dormant state known as cryptobiosis, allowing them to survive for extended periods. This phenomenon extends to viruses, which can remain viable in deep permafrost for thousands to millions of years. As permafrost thaws, ancient microorganisms, including prehistoric bacteria and viruses, are released and reactivated, some of which may still be infectious and resistant to modern antibiotics.

Permafrost layers also contain mummified remains of woolly mammoths, reindeer, woolly rhinos, siberian wolves, and even humans, within which bacteria, viruses, and spores have been cryogenically preserved.

Dubbed "zombie viruses" by scientists, these ancient pathogens have the potential to wreak havoc once unleashed. Among the discoveries unearthed so far are a dozen viruses dating back tens of thousands of years. The oldest known virus, dating back 48,500 years, a giant virus called Pandoravirus yedoma, was found buried beneath a lake in Yukechi Alas, in the Russian Far East. Several other viruses have been extracted from various sources, including the fur of a mammoth and the intestines of a Siberian wolf. In laboratory experiments, these ancient viruses have demonstrated their ability to infect single-celled organisms like amoeba, raising concerns about their potential threat to human health.

Genetic treasure trove

But the permafrost holds more than just ancient viruses. It also harbours genetic material from relatively recent epidemics. Lung samples from a woman buried in Alaskan permafrost in 1997 revealed traces of the deadly 1918 influenza strain, a virus that claimed millions of lives worldwide. Similarly, genetic remnants of the smallpox virus were discovered in 2012 in the mummified remains of a woman buried in Siberia 300 years ago, long after the disease was believed to be eradicated.

Yet, perhaps the most alarming revelation came during the 2016 anthrax outbreak in Siberia, triggered by the rapid thawing of permafrost, allowing old spores of Bacillus anthracis, the causative agent of anthrax, to re-emerge from ancient human burial sites or animal carcasses infecting dozens of people and thousands of reindeer.

Epidemiologists provide assurance regarding the potential control of ancient bacterial epidemics by modern antibiotics, despite the discovery of antibiotic-resistant genes in permafrost. Antibiotics are a crucial tool in combating various bacterial diseases due to their broad-spectrum activity. They are expected to be effective against a range of bacterial pathogens, including those responsible for diseases such as plague, anthrax, legionellosis, typhoid, tuberculosis, and salmonellosis. However, the same level of efficacy does not extend to viruses.

Viruses require highly specific antiviral medications or vaccines for effective treatment and prevention. Recent pandemics have underscored the necessity of targeted approaches in combating viral infections, even when they belong to known virus families. The emergence of a virus previously unknown to medical science or our immune system, thus, poses a significant threat, highlighting the importance of preparedness and vigilance.

To prevent the potential escape of biological threats from permafrost, halting the thawing process and addressing the underlying climate crisis are paramount. Proactive measures are essential in mitigating the risks associated with the awakening of millennia-old microorganisms.

This necessitates a comprehensive understanding of ancient pathogens and coordinated global efforts to contain emerging threats. The challenge extends beyond the mere discovery of these zombie viruses to how the society responds to this new reality, emphasising the urgency of collaborative action and adaptation strategies in the face of evolving environmental and health challenges.

Being diagnosed with PCOS has turned out to be a blessing in disguise for city-based entrepreneur Vibha Harish, who was recently on Shark Tank Season 3 and walked away with a ₹100 crore valuation for her nutrition brand

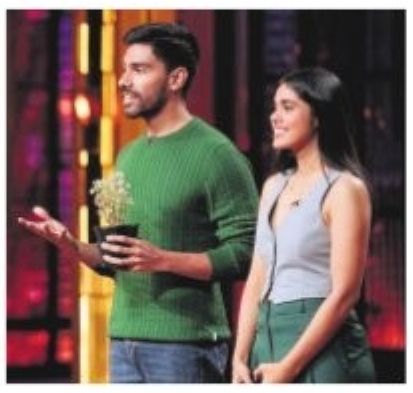
BIG DEAL

POOJA DAS

WITH the rising trend of vegan health consciousness, entrepreneur Vibha Harish, 28, a herbalist by profession took her four-year-old brand Cosmix, a plant-based nutrition brand to Shark Tank Season 3 and returned with an offer of ₹1 crore for 1 per cent equity with the condition of 1 per cent royalty till the ₹1 crore is recouped.

The winning offer came from Namita Thapar, CEO of a multinational pharmaceutical company after a battle with Peyush Bansal who wanted the D2C company to focus more on the technological aspects. "We had an audition round in Bengaluru and then we travelled to Mumbai. We were a bit nervous pitching in front of the Sharks. They were very intimidating at first but we got to learn a lot in the process. Being South Indian, I'm not so comfortable with Hindi, but it was fun," shares Harish, who was accompanied by her husband and co-founder Soorya Jagdish.

Harish's journey started with a personal health challenge. Diagnosed with PCOS at 16, she delved into understanding the importance of good nutrition and exercise. "As I started working on my own health, I saw these changes. I decided that I have to take action," she recalls. It was this transformation that inspired her to share her discoveries with the world," she recalls. She further emphasises the need to learn more about hormonal health and conditions like PCOS which is common in women these days. "A lot of awareness needs to be around hormonal health. We're not encouraged to speak up as women and share period issues openly. Once you have PCOS, there's no quick fix. There's no cure. It's a lifetime of managing it. But it's a blessing in disguise because it got me started on this journey."



[illegible]

With a homoeopathic doctor as a mother, she learned the value of a holistic approach to health and embraced a combination of local medicines, herbs, good food, rest, and stress management. Her deepening interest in herbalism led her to pursue it further. "I've now been studying and practising for six years. There is much research that goes into formulating the products," explains Harish.

Navigating the hurdles of Covid-19, building the right team, and learning the ropes of entrepreneurship were significant challenges for Harish. "As young entrepreneurs, we have to learn how to emotionally regulate ourselves. That has been quite interesting but it's also been a rewarding journey," she adds. Apart from formulating the products, Harish also enjoys cooking healthy recipes with her father, Harish Clospet who also went to Masterchef India for his lunchbox recipes. "My dad started cooking a year back for us and making lunchboxes for my sister. We have all become health-conscious as a family. So today, my dad and me like to cook healthy recipes together. I come in from the nutrition point of view and he, from the cooking point of view, and we whip up some interesting recipes," shares Harish.

Filmmaker Girish Kasaravalli's first film Ghatashraddha, an Indian classic, will be restored by international filmmakers Martin Scorsese and George Lucas

A still from Ghatashraddha

Revival of a classic

MONIKA MONALISA

RENOWNED filmmaker Girish Kasaravalli's Ghatashraddha (1977) is going to be restored. The initiative was taken by the Film Heritage Foundation (FHF) in collaboration with the foundations run by Martin Scorsese (The Film Foundation's World Cinema Project) and George Lucas (Hobson/Lucas Family Foundation). The idea is to restore the film in time for its 50th anniversary from the original camera negatives preserved at the National Film Archive of India.

Kasaravalli is grateful to these legendary filmmakers for picking his film. "I was told about it a few days ago. I was in contact with Shivendra Singh (director of Film Heritage Foundation). It was his initiative because he liked the film so much that he thought they needed to restore the film. He was the one who was in touch with the foundations," says Kasarvalli.

Based on a novella by eminent Kannada writer UR Ananthamurthy, the landmark Indian film marked the debut movie of Kasaravalli. "I made this film when I was straight out of FTII (Film and Technology Institute of India). I was just 25. I aimed to make something that is on par with Samskara and Malgudi Days. It just happened to be based on a powerful story by Dr Murthy. I have repeated many times that anybody could have made an excellent film with a story like this," says Kasaravalli.

Apart from the strong story, the 73-year-old filmmaker feels the 'composition and the cinematic use of grammar and rhetoric' has made it relevant over time. "A story alone cannot make a film good. You have to have control over the medium," says Kasaravalli, adding, "The movie was also made during a time when it got noticed all over the world."

While the girl remains unaware of the happenings within and around her, she is excommunicated by her father, who performs her funeral rites while she is still alive. The story is told from the point of view of a young boy Naani, who was in support of Yamuna

FACT FILE

The film won three awards- Best Feature Film, Best Music Direction, and Best Child Artist at the 25th National Film Awards in the year 1978

The film won four awards- First Best Film, Best Story, Best Screenplay, Best Child Actor, at the Karnataka State Film Award in 1978

C. Krishniah Chetty Group: 155 Years of Tradition, Innovation, and Unmatched Craftsmanship

In 1869, Cotha Krishniah Chetty migrated to the British Cantonment, establishing a jewellery business on Narayan Pillai Street near Commercial Street, known for skilled goldsmiths. Sensing opportunities in the Cantonment's establishment, he began a small enterprise in Bangalore.

With foresight, he ventured into fine jewellery, competing with London jewellers and importing European wares. Cotha Audinarayana Chetty, expanding on his father's vision, imported European wares from Mappin & Webb of London and became an importer from The Goldsmiths and Silversmiths Company of London and Rolex of Switzerland who custom-made diamond-set gold wrist watches, with the dial specially imprinted with the name of C. Krishniah Chetty. Recognised for fine craftsmanship, the firm participated in the Paris and Delhi expositions.

In 1910, Cotha Krishniah Chetty was appointed jeweller to the Royal Court by His Highness Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wodeyar, marking a golden era. The firm served over 21 royal families, including the Nizam of Hyderabad and the Maharaja of Mysore.

Commissioned by the Maharaja of Mysore, the firm created hundreds of Ghanda Bherunda award medals, featuring the royal emblem set with rubies, emeralds, diamonds, and pearls.

With a history of 155 years and as proud Bengalureans, they are constantly working on new and exciting projects, almost as if making history repeat itself. The business has been professionally operated and has evolved with the times. Not only does the business operate in a traditional brick-and-mortar way, but it also has an online presence.

Competition has not been new to C. Krishniah Chetty Group; their inner strength has been the reason for their "always-current" relevance. They invest in modernisation, their long-serving teams, along with young new employees with diverse educational backgrounds. Well-qualified designers, diamond and gold experts, and experienced manufacturing craftsmen keep them ahead of the curve.

Today, they support over 2000 underprivileged students, both girls and boys, in various programmes, helping in skill development at their C. Krishniah Chetty Institute of Fine Jewellery. They contribute to public service through their over 30 traffic wardens and many innovative initiatives.

Today, celebrating 155 years of progress since its founding, C. Krishniah Chetty offers discounts ranging from 5% to 18.69% during the Grand 1869 Sale, a departure from its usual fixed pricing policy.

IN GRAPHIC DETAIL

Despite his apprehension towards new technology, city-based graphic novelist Appupen, known for the Halahala series, delves into the complexities of AI in his latest work

> The book tries to go beyond the superficial allure of advanced gadgets and self-driving cars as it seeks to peel back the layers of AI

POOJA DAS

THE ever-watching eye. The Big Brother manipulating your decisions and taking your data to push their own agenda is an anxiety not new to anyone. But these anxieties have consolidated as the rise of Artificial Intelligence (AI) has stolen the spotlight in the age-old debate of man vs machine. Acclaimed graphic novelist, Appupen who is known for his works like Moonward, has attempted to demystify the phenomenon with his latest book Dream Machine: AI and the REAL World (₹495, Context). While in France for a comic art residence for seven months, the omnipresence and concerns surrounding AI caught his attention. "Everybody seemed concerned about AI and what to do about it. Whether an artist, software engineer, doctor, or anyone else, everyone wants to know about AI. To be honest, I didn't know much about it before working on this book," says Appupen, adding, "I'm usually the last guy to jump on board."

Despite Appupen's inherent scepticism about new technological advancements, he explored the subject further, which is when he met Laurent Daudet, a physics professor at one of Paris' leading universities. "We started talking about it and the first thing he mentioned was the resources AI takes and if we go on like this, we might just use up all the resources that we have. That was a refreshing take from a tech person. Because usually, tech people say more tech is always the answer to bad tech," he laughs, adding, "He seemed like someone who thinks a bit like me. So I asked him whether he wanted to make something with me like an explainer to tell people or just demystify AI for people. That was the original idea."

Dream Machine revolves around Hugo, the founder of an AI startup who is approached by a big corporation to buy his technology for a game. He struggles to make a decision as he hears more about the company and its intentions. The book tries to go beyond the superficial allure of advanced gadgets and self-driving cars as it seeks to peel back the layers of AI, revealing the more critical aspects that are often overshadowed by its more appealing, consumer-friendly features. "It's the flush end of AI, which is the fun part that you're deliberately pushing to people so that they are distracted from the real reasons why AI should be handled carefully," he says.

It so happened that he found a publisher who shared his vision. "The fact that the publishers didn't make it look like a textbook appealed to me. In fact, the publisher wanted a thriller. I thought just by opening this can of worms, it could look like a thriller because this has very far-reaching implications that we can highlight," adds Appupen.

The book, which was launched in India last month ends with a disclaimer stating, "This book is written and drawn entirely by humans, except for Chapter 10, the very last one, where based on a synopsis of the book, we prompted ChatGPT with five different features of our story – copied here verbatim" – leaving it open to multiple scenarios as the real world sees the rise of AI.

THE LACK OF VISION PRO+

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

THE Apple Vision Pro has caught the fancy of the internet. Dystopian videos have been circulating of people in cafes, moving their hands to close invisible windows. Scaremongers have begun to spell doom for humanity as we know it, lamenting the lack of social contact. I am not a 'techie'. I start sweating when my PC begins to hang. But I am a perennial optimist (except when India is playing Australia in the finals). And so, I am all for the advent of virtual reality in our lives.

While the tech space was excited about the Vision Pro, I assume certain industries must be wringing their hands in despair. Like the fashion industry that constantly wants you to lose weight and look like a homeless European teenager. Or perhaps even the transportation industry. For, why would you be stuck in a traffic jam when you can be in your manager's head directly? How can movie theatres sell you yesterday's samosas at 2034 prices if you're watching 3D movies on your couch?

Personally, I have felt that mobile phones have saturated as an industry. Look at any phone launch, and you'll find creative ways to recycle the same features. A camera that can take pictures of Jupiter while it is having lunch in the house of Mars. A battery that will last you till the end of World War III. Some alphanumeric phrases about speed and computation – when we all know all we do is waste time on reels. At one point, a phone sparked joy in our lives. Now, it is a necessary baggage. There are entire books dedicated to phone addiction – which you can read on your phone!

Every mobile phone today looks the same – a giant rectangle that fits uncomfortably in your pocket. I miss old-world mobile phones that came in different shapes and sizes. And also their own unique problems. I once used a phone whose backspace had stopped working. Which made me Bheeshma Pitamaha, because there was no backtracking – every message I sent was the final word! And then there was the beautiful tradition of missed calls. Sometimes, a missed call was a frantic plea to call back. On some days, a missed call was a request to recharge your phone. Or simply a gentle way of telling someone you were missing them. Today, a missed call is a dreadful reminder that you have to call back someone. A missed call appears like a red boil on your otherwise blue-green screen – causing anxiety and overthinking.

Which is why I cannot wait for VR headsets to take over the world. The headsets will finally blur the lines between business and pleasure. In our parents' time, work belonged to the office. The pandemic brought work into our homes. In a few years, our offices will be in our heads. Bosses and nosy colleagues will not be able to peep into your screen to check on you. All those books on body language and confidence will be redundant – a veritable death of the extrovert. Travel influencers will become obsolete. Humans will go on to have larger thumbs in a million years because of constantly swiping on stupid videos. While I am extremely receptive of such technological leaps, the truth is that it is still a (virtual) dream for me to afford them at the moment. So, like any self-respecting individual, all I have to do is wait for a Chinese company to come up with a cheap knock-off!

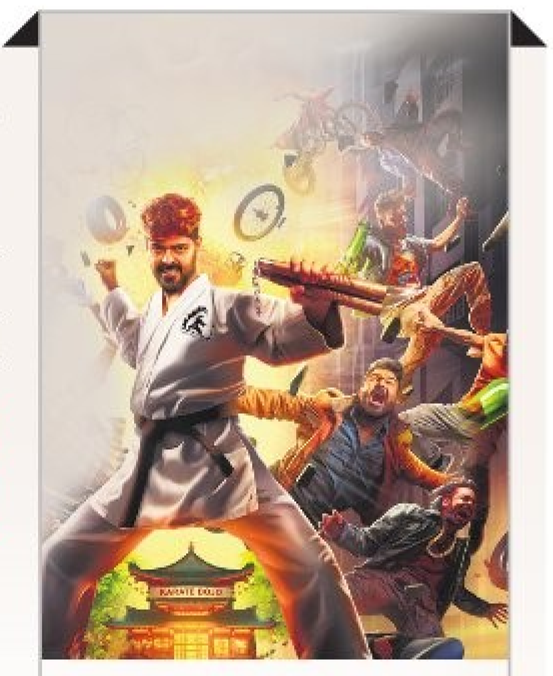
The film, made under Daali Pictures banner, has her starring alongside Nagabhushan



Malaika Vasupal

CE FEATURES

MALAIKA Vasupal is currently on cloud nine for finding success in her silver screen debut with Upadhyaksha, which starred her alongside Chikkanna. The film was produced by DN Cinemas and Umapathy Films. "I expected the film to be a hit, but we never expected that it would be a super duper hit, and the tremendous reception to my character was overwhelming. The people have accepted me in my feature film, just like my serial career" says Malaika, who is happy to have bagged yet another interesting project. This time, she will be seen alongside Nagabhushan in a film titled Vidyapati. It will be directed by the director duo Esham and Haseen Khan. The two are known for their work in Ikkat which also starred Nagabhusan. However, this will be the first collaboration for Malaika with the directors. "This is once again a comedy venture, and I chose the project mainly for the storyline created by the directors. Moreover, I am getting an opportunity to work with Daali Pictures, who have given films like Badava Rascal and Tagaru Palya. Promoting Upadhyaksha, made me understand that content is important, but at the same time, entertainment is the key value for a film to be successful."

Malaika is happy to get a transition from the role she played in Upadhyaksha. "I played a minor in Upadhyaksha, and everybody who has seen me in the film and my serials will see me in a different light in Vidyapati. The director has designed my character well. The team plans to begin shooting by the end of March or April," he says. Murali, and DossMode will be handling the cinematography and music respectively. The action sequences for the film will be choreographed by Arjun Master.

PUNEETH RAJKUMAR'S CULT CLASSIC JACKIE SET FOR A GRAND RE-RELEASE

Suri's directorial, distributed by KRG Studios, is set to hit over 100 theaters on March 15

A SHARADHAA

PUNEETH Rajkumar's beloved classic, Jackie (2010), directed by Suri, is set for a grand re-release on March 15, coinciding with the actor's birthday anniversary on March 17. This commercial entertainer, distributed by KRG Studios in association with Ashwini Puneeth Rajkumar, will hit over 100 theaters.

"We've planned to re-release one blockbuster film of Appu every year on his birth anniversary, and it starts with Jackie," says distributor Karthik Gowda. Explaining the choice of Jackie as the starting point, Karthik says, "Jackie was one of the most celebrated films of Puneeth Rajkumar. Furthermore, songs like 'Ekka Raja Rani,' 'Jackie Jackie,' and 'Shiva antha Hogutide' continue to captivate audiences and top the charts, adding to the film's enduring charm. The scenes from the film are still immensely popular. Moreover, today, the trend of re-releases is gaining momentum in South Indian cinema. So we thought it is the best way to encapsulate that trend than with Jackie. I'm confident that the craze on day one for Jackie will be as intense as it was 15 years ago when the film was first released in 2010."

Interestingly, the ticket prices for the re-release will remain normal as the distributors aim to celebrate Puneeth Rajkumar's films. This will be the case every year; one of his films will see a theatrical re-release each year," he says.

Jackie also marked the debut of Bhavana Menon, who is now an established actor in South Indian films. The film also featured Harshika Poonacha, Rangayana Raghu, and others in pivotal roles. Satya Hegde handled the cinematography, while V Harikrishna composed the music for the film.

JUGALBANDI, helmed by Divakar Dimdima, consists of an ensemble cast including the likes of Archana Kottige, Ashwin Rao Pallaki, Santhosh Ashray, and Yash Shetty, each portraying interesting characters.

The film unfolds with three distinct storylines, centering around a mother, a couple, and a visually impaired individual, respectively. Their common thread? A relentless pursuit of financial stability. While this quest for financial stability, as depicted in the film, is a concept seldom explored in religious scriptures. The director further explains that the characters or plots interact, contrast, or complement each other, adding depth and complexity to the storytelling.

Speaking to CE ahead of the film's release on March 1, the principal cast shared their views about Jugalbandi. Reflecting on this central theme, Yash Shetty says, "Our life itself is a jugalbandi, and every being here comes along with competition and race, while they complement each other. This is a film prepared to delight the innocent audience. It holds special consciousness, a desire to linger in the minds of the viewers for a long time." Echoing this sentiment, Santhosh Ashray observes, "The jugalbandi of music is aimed to transform into a jugalbandi of life's emotions here. Hoping that this movie, which holds a good storyline, appeals to Kannada sentiments. I'm also happy to be a part of it."

Manasi Sudhir remarks, "Jugalbandi is a content-driven film that caters to the taste of audiences from all classes. Indeed, the film promises to resonate with viewers across diverse socio-economic backgrounds." Archana Kottige adds, "Jugalbandi, in this context, is the interaction between the heart and mind, and every character brings something unique to the table."

Behind the scenes, Divakar Dimdima assumes multiple roles as the story, screenplay, and dialogue writer, showcasing his versatility and creative prowess. Produced under his own banner and distributed by Visica Films, Jugalbandi also stars Prakash Belavadi, Chandra Prabha GJ, and Ranjan, and as supporting actors. Pradyotan has scored the music for the film.

'We never saw Kreem as a woman-centric film'

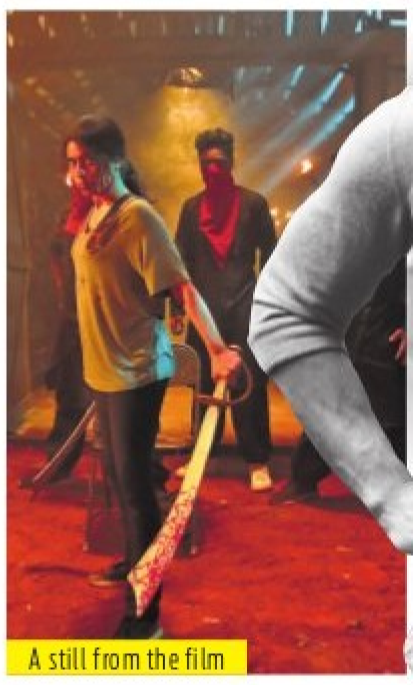
...says Abhishek Basanth as he discusses his directorial debut, the challenge of realising writer Agni Sreedhar's vision and working with Samyuktha Hegde

CE FEATURES

ABHISHEK Basanth, who owns an MBA in general management and MS in public policy and human resources, found himself at a crossroads with two distinct paths before him. One involved delving into organising MMA fights, while the other involved directing films and writing.

"Around that time, when writer and filmmaker Agni Sreedhar's The Gangsters Gita book was released and director Govind Nihalani came home to meet Agni Sir. He had read The Gangsters Gita, wanted to know the writer, and about the book, especially the last chapter. By then, I was intrigued by their in-depth conversations about films, and that's when I started my film journey. This was toward the end of 2019. I then worked as an associate director in Head Bush and marked my directorial debut with Kreem," says Abhishek ahead of the film's release on March 1. The film, which is about human sacrifice, sees Samyuktha Hegde as the lead and also features Achuyth Kumar, Arun Sagar, Ashwin Haasan, and Imran Pasha among others. The music is by Rohit Sower, and Sunoj Velayudhan has handled the cinematography.

The debutant filmmaker wanted his first film to be as gritty as possible, and he believed that one writer who could bring that to the table was Agni Sreedhar. "When a story comes from Sreedhar, it's usually realistic, based on facts, and gripping. When we considered Kreem as a subject, we never saw it as a woman-centric film. We just went with the story. However, it is from 'her' perspective, through the protagonist, Samyuktha Hegde," says the first-timer, adding, "As a teenager, I was exposed to Puttanna Kanagal films, and I realised that most of the films he dealt with revolved around females and incidents from their perspective, which inspired me. They were two underworld subjects, and I chose Kreem for its horrifying and non-supernatural elements. Secondly, these are incidents that are happening around the world, and lastly, the technical aspects we could bring around it, something I wanted to explore in my first film," he explains.



A still from the film

Abhishek Basanth

While Abhishek had a well-prepared reference point, he delved into research from various sources, including CERN, the European organisation for Nuclear Research in Geneva. "My most cherished beverage in the world is black coffee, iced and strong. I do research with coffee beans as well. Theoretically I like to be strong. So, my preparation before going on set was very robust. On the day the shoot started, my job to think creatively was only 10%, with 90% problem-solving. Even though it was my first film, with the support of the team from actors, technicians, and Agni Sreedhar, who was open to ideas, it went on smoothly. The only factor that was not in my control was Samyuktha's injury. It was painful, and she had to undergo surgery and take rest for 6 months. We had to reconstruct the sets. It was fate. She exerted 200%, and naturally, when someone gives that effort, challenges are inevitable," he shares.

Looking ahead, Abhishek wants to explore crime dramas for some time. "I want to make gritty crime drama and action. As an audience, I connect with romantic and comedy genres. Even when I try to write, it will somehow navigate to crime," he concludes.
